APICS Certified Supply Chain Professional Sample Questions (Q466-Q471):

NEW QUESTION # 466

A company that is effectively managing its cash will have which of the following conditions?

- A. High accounts receivable, high inventory, low accounts payable
- B. Low accounts receivable, low inventory, high accounts payable
- C. Low accounts receivable, high inventory, low accounts payable
- D. High accounts receivable, low inventory, high accounts payable

Answer: B

Explanation:

Low accounts receivable means that the company is collecting payments from its customers quickly, which is a positive sign for cash flow. Low inventory means that the company is not tying up its cash in excess inventory that may not sell quickly. High accounts payable means that the company is taking advantage of payment terms offered by its suppliers and delaying payment until it is due, which allows the company to hold onto its cash for longer.

On the other hand, high accounts receivable and high inventory indicate that the company may be struggling to collect payments from its customers and may have excess inventory that is not selling quickly. Low accounts payable means that the company is paying its suppliers quickly, which can put a strain on cash flow.
