APMG-International Agile Project Management (AgilePM) Foundation Exam Sample Questions (Q63-Q68):

NEW QUESTION # 63
What defines how well, or to what level a solution needs to perform?

- A. Functional Requirements
- B. Tangible Requirements
- C. Non-Functional Requirements
- D. Testable Requirements

Answer: C

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation (paraphrased from AgilePM/Agile standards; exact long extracts cannot be provided):
In AgilePM (and broadly across agile practice), functional requirements describe what the solution should do-capabilities, behaviors, and services. By contrast, non-functional requirements (NFRs) describe how well the solution must perform those functions. NFRs encompass performance, reliability, security, usability, accessibility, supportability, maintainability, and other quality attributes that set objective thresholds (e.g., response times, availability targets, encryption standards). They guide architectural choices, testing strategies, and acceptance criteria, and they are essential to protecting quality during timeboxed delivery and MoSCoW prioritization. Testable acceptance checks can and should be derived from NFRs, but "testable requirements" is not the category name for defining performance levels-the recognized term is Non-Functional Requirements. Therefore, the correct option is B.

NEW QUESTION # 64
What is defined as 'Working together towards a shared goal'?

- A. Communication
- B. Governance
- C. Collaboration
- D. Scrum

Answer: C

Explanation:
Agile Project Management places a premium on collaboration-the act of different roles (business, product, and technical) working together toward a shared goal. While communication is the exchange of information, collaboration goes further: it is joint problem-solving and decision-making that aligns perspectives to deliver value. AgilePM/DSDM principles explicitly promote active business involvement and empowered teams, creating an environment where collaboration is the default for refining requirements, planning increments, resolving trade-offs, and assuring quality. Ceremonies such as backlog refinement, Sprint Planning, daily coordination, and reviews exist to reinforce collaborative behavior, shorten feedback loops, and surface constraints early. Scrum itself (option C) is a framework that enables collaboration, but the definition given-"working together towards a shared goal"-is the definition of collaboration, not the framework or governance mechanisms. Governance (option D) concerns oversight and control structures rather than the cooperative behaviors that produce outcomes. Consequently, the statement most accurately and directly defines Collaboration.

- A. To address the requirements and test the structure Timebox product.
- B. To confirm the detail of all the requirements to be delivered by the structured Timebox.

- D. To formality accept the structured Timebox deliverables.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 67

How is contingency typically managed in a DSDM project?

- A. Allowed adding a percentage to the high-level estimates.
- B. Managed by varying the features to be delivered.
- C. Not needed in a DSDM project.
- D. Managed by varying time and cost

Answer: B

Explanation:
In a DSDM project, contingency is typically managed by varying the features to be delivered6. This approach aligns with the DSDM principle of delivering the most critical work first and using the MoSCoW prioritization to adjust the scope of delivery as needed.
