Salesforce Certified Administrator Sample Questions (Q22-Q27):

NEW QUESTION # 22

An analytics user at Cloud Kicks needs Read, Create, and Edit access for objects and Should be restricted from deleting any records.

What should the administrator do to meet this requirement?

- A. Assign the standard System Administrator profile to the analytical user.
- B. Create and assign a permission set that includes Read, Create, and Edit access

- C. Give the user View all access and assign them to the highest role in the role hierarchy.
- D. Create and assign a custom profile with Delete access removed for each object.

Answer: D

Explanation:

A custom profile is a profile that can be created and customized by administrators to define what users can see and do in Salesforce based on their job function or role. It can be used by Cloud Kicks to give read, create, and edit access for objects and restrict users from deleting any records by creating and assigning a custom profile with delete access removed for each object in the object settings. Assigning the standard system administrator profile to analytical user, giving user view all access and assigning them to highest role in role hierarchy, or creating and assigning permission set that includes read, create, and edit access are not solutions for giving read, create, and edit access for objects and restricting users from deleting any records; they either give too much access or do not remove delete access.
