SAP Certified Associate - SAP Generative AI Developer Sample Questions (Q10-Q15):

NEW QUESTION # 10

What is the goal of prompt engineering?

- A. To optimize hardware performance for AI computations
- B. To develop new neural network architectures for AI models
- C. To craft inputs that guide AI systems in generating desired outputs
- D. To replace human decision-making with automated processes

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 11

What is a part of LLM context optimization?

- A. Enhancing the computational speed of the model
- B. Providing the model with domain-specific knowledge needed to solve a problem
- C. Reducing the model's size to improve efficiency
- D. Adjusting the model's output format and style

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 12

What are the applications of generative AI that go beyond traditional chatbot applications? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. To interpret human instructions and control software systems always producing output for human consumption.
- B. To interpret human instructions and control software systems without necessarily producing output for human consumption.
- C. To follow a specific schema - human input, AI processing, and output for human consumption.
- D. To produce outputs based on software input.

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

* C. To interpret human instructions and control software systems without necessarily producing output for human consumption. This is a key area where generative AI is breaking new ground. Think of it as AI acting as a "middleman" between you and software.

Here are some examples:

* Automating complex tasks: You could tell the AI to "optimize this database for performance" or

"find and fix security vulnerabilities in this code." The AI would then interact with the software systems to carry out these instructions, without needing to show you every step or result.

* Controlling robots or IoT devices: Imagine instructing an AI to "adjust the lighting in the meeting room" or "have the robot retrieve the package from the warehouse." The AI translates your instructions into actions for those systems.

* Managing cloud resources: AI could dynamically allocate cloud resources based on your needs, scaling them up or down without your direct intervention.

* D. To interpret human instructions and control software systems always producing output for human consumption. This is more in line with traditional chatbot interactions, but with a broader scope. It's about AI generating outputs that are directly useful or informative for humans. Examples include:

* Creating realistic images or videos: Based on your description, the AI could generate a photorealistic image of a new product design or a short video clip for a marketing campaign.

* Writing different kinds of creative text formats: AI can generate stories, poems, articles, summaries, and even code, all tailored to your specifications.

* Providing personalized recommendations: AI can analyze your preferences and provide recommendations for products, services, or information.

Why the other options are incorrect:

* A. To produce outputs based on software input. This is a general capability of AI, not something specific to generative AI or beyond chatbots. Many AI systems analyze software input (like sensor data or log files) to produce outputs.

* B. To follow a specific schema - human input, AI processing, and output for human consumption.

This describes the basic interaction pattern of many AI systems, including chatbots. It's not something that specifically differentiates generative AI or goes beyond typical chatbot applications.

NEW QUESTION # 13

How can Joule improve workforce productivity?

Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. By maintaining strict adherence to data privacy regulations.
- B. By providing context-based role-specific task assistance.
- C. By offering generic task recommendations unrelated to specific roles.
- D. By resolving hardware malfunctions.

Answer: A,B

NEW QUESTION # 14

Where can you configure language models in generative AI hub?

- A. The Models tab in Prompt Editor
- B. The Configuration tab within ML Operations in SAP AI Launchpad
- C. The Orchestration tab in SAP AI Launchpad
- D. The Configuration tab of the SAP BTP cockpit

Answer: B
