WGU Ethics In Technology QCO1 Sample Questions (Q19-Q24):

NEW QUESTION # 19

A consulting company employs H-1B workers. Even though companies applying for H-1B visas must offer a wage that is at least 95% of the average salary for the occupation, a close review of salaries within the consulting firm suggests that its H-1B workers are often paid 20% less on average than those with similar skill sets.

Which loophole is the company using to avoid paying H-1B workers a fair wage?

- A. Employing H-1B workers to work remotely from countries where the cost of living is lower
- B. Pressuring H-1B workers to file petitions with the government to allow lower salary
- C. Classifying an H-1B worker as entry level when they fill a position of an experienced worker
- D. Laying off employees with U.S. citizenship to lower the average salary numbers

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 20

To establish an expectation among consumers that a professional will behave ethically, a nonprofit society publishes a professional code of ethics. Which benefit can be directly derived from this effort?

- A. High standards of practice
- B. Evaluation benchmark
- C. Public trust and respect
- D. Principled decision-making

Answer: C

Explanation:

By publishing a professional code of ethics, a nonprofit society establishes ethical expectations, increasing public confidence in the profession. Ethical codes demonstrate a commitment to integrity, fairness, and responsible conduct, fostering public trust in professionals.

* ACM & IEEE Codes of Ethics - Promote ethical awareness and public accountability.

* Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) & Ethics in IT - Organizations gain public trust by adopting ethical guidelines.

* Virtue Ethics (Character & Reputation) - A professional code reinforces moral credibility and public respect.

* Stakeholder Theory (Freeman, 1984) - Ethical practices benefit consumers, employees, and society.

Relevant Ethical References in Technology: Thus, the correct answer is B. Public trust and respect, as publishing a professional code of ethics reassures consumers and strengthens the profession's credibility.

NEW QUESTION # 21

A publicly-traded organization listed on the New York Stock Exchange has been flagged for possible accounting malpractices. An auditor discovers that the company used funds to disguise payments to international officials. The auditor also finds that the system of internal control does not adequately maintain books and records that reflect all business transactions.

Which law did the organization potentially violate?

- A. Electronic Communications Privacy Act
- B. Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States
- C. Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act
- D. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) prohibits U.S. companies from bribing foreign officials and requires accurate financial records.

Why FCPA Applies?

- * The company disguised payments to international officials, which violates the FCPA's anti-bribery provisions.
- * The lack of internal controls to maintain proper records also violates FCPA accounting rules.
- * The law applies to publicly traded companies, such as those listed on the New York Stock Exchange.
- * A. Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States - Regulates foreign investment, not bribery.
- * B. Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act - Covers electronic surveillance and national security, not corporate misconduct.
- * D. Electronic Communications Privacy Act - Protects electronic communications from unauthorized access, unrelated to accounting fraud.

Why Not the Other Options? Thus, the correct answer is C. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) as it governs anti-bribery and financial reporting.

- * Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA), 15 U.S.C. §§ 78dd-1, et seq.
- * U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) FCPA Guide.
- * Transparency International: Corruption Perceptions Index.

NEW QUESTION # 22

Which principle, according to the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development's (OECD) privacy guidelines, states that people have the right to review their data, challenge its correctness, and have incorrect data changed?

- A. Individual participation
- B. Purpose specification
- C. Security safeguard
- D. Use limitation

Answer: A

Explanation:

The OECD Privacy Guidelines establish principles for protecting personal data, and Individual Participation is the principle that grants individuals the right to:

- * Access their personal data
- * Challenge incorrect data
- * Request corrections to inaccurate information

This ensures transparency and gives individuals control over their own information.

- * B. Purpose Specification - Requires data collection to have a clear, specific purpose, but does not grant individuals the right to review their data.
- * C. Use Limitation - Limits how collected data can be used but does not focus on individual rights.
- * D. Security Safeguard - Ensures data protection measures but does not relate to individuals reviewing their data.

Why Not the Other Options? Thus, the correct answer is A. Individual participation, as it upholds the right to access and correct personal information.

* OECD Guidelines on the Protection of Privacy and Transborder Flows of Personal Data (1980, updated 2013).

* General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) (2018), Articles 15-16.

* Solove, D. J. (2020). Understanding Privacy. Harvard University Press.

NEW QUESTION # 23

An organization plans to hire three external software engineers to build client software to connect its lightweight wireless devices to the cloud. It will do so according to specific terms and a specific duration defined in a legal document. The duration of the work will be six months.

Which workforce category should the organization hire within?

- A. Full-time employees
- B. Part-time salaried workers
- C. In-house expertise
- D. Independent contractors

Answer: D

Explanation:

Since the organization is hiring external software engineers for a fixed six-month project, independent contractors are the best option.

Why Independent Contractors?

- * They work on a project basis, as defined in a legal contract.
- * The organization does not provide full-time benefits.
- * Contractors are specialists hired for short-term needs, making them ideal for temporary projects.
- * A. Full-time employees: Not suitable, as the work is temporary (six months only).
- * B. In-house expertise: The company is hiring external workers, not relying on existing staff.
- * C. Part-time salaried workers: Part-time employees receive benefits, while contractors do not.

Why Not the Other Options? Thus, the correct answer is D. Independent contractors, as they are ideal for temporary project-based work.

* U.S. Department of Labor Guidelines on Independent Contractors.

* Harvard Business Review (2022). Managing Independent Contractors Effectively.
