A CRM Analytics consultant has been asked to bring data from an external database as well as five external Salesforce environments into CRM Analytics. Twenty-five objects have been enabled from the local Salesforce connector.

The requirements are:

* 10 objects should be enabled from an external database

* 12 objects each from three of the external Salesforce environments

* 15 objects each from the remaining two external Salesforce environments The consultant estimates each connector will, per object, bring between 1,000 and 1 million rows of data.

Which limit will be exceeded?

- A. Salesforce external connector number of synced rows
- B. Storage rows of data
- C. Total number of enabled objects

Answer: C

Explanation:

In evaluating the scenario presented where multiple external sources and objects are being integrated into CRM Analytics, we need to consider the total number of enabled objects across all connections. Here's a breakdown:

10 objects from an external database

12 objects each from three external Salesforce environments, totaling 36 objects

15 objects each from two external Salesforce environments, totaling 30 objects

25 objects already enabled from the local Salesforce connector

This brings us to a total of 101 objects enabled, which may exceed typical limits on the number of objects that can be enabled in a CRM Analytics environment, depending on the specific Salesforce licensing and platform limits.
