NEW QUESTION # 79

Which institution has the power to adopt findings that confirm the adequacy of the data protection level in a non-EU country?

- A. The Article 29 Working Party
- B. The European Commission
- C. The European Parliament
- D. The European Council

Answer: B

Explanation:

According to Article 45 of the GDPR, the European Commission has the power to determine, on the basis of an assessment, whether a non-EU country, a territory or a sector within that country, or an international organisation ensures an adequate level of data protection. This means that the data protection rules and standards in that country or organisation are equivalent to those in the EU. The effect of an adequacy decision is that personal data can flow freely from the EU to that country or organisation without any further safeguards or authorisations. The European Commission has adopted adequacy decisions for several countries and organisations, such as Japan, Canada, and the EU-US Data Privacy Framework. NEW QUESTION # 83

If a company chooses to ground an international data transfer on the contractual route, which of the following is NOT a valid set of standard contractual clauses?

- A. Decision 2007/72/EC (EU processor to non-EU or EEA controller).
- B. Decision 2010/87/EU (Non-EU or EEA processor from EU controller).
- C. Decision 2004/915/EC (EU controller to non-EU or EEA controller).
- D. Decision 2001/497/EC (EU controller to non-EU or EEA controller).

Answer: A

Explanation:

This is not a valid set of standard contractual clauses because it does not correspond to any of the decisions adopted by the European Commission under the GDPR or the previous Data Protection Directive 95/46. The correct decision for EU processor to non-EU or EEA controller is Decision 2010/87/EU, which was amended by Decision 2004/915/EC. Decision 2007/72/EC is actually related to the recognition of the adequacy of the protection of personal data in Switzerland. References:
