NEW QUESTION # 33

Your company's Google Workspace primary domain is "mycompany.com," and it has acquired a startup that is using another cloud provider with a domain named "mystartup.com." You plan to add all employees from the startup to your Google Workspace domain while preserving their current mail addresses. The startup CEO's email address is andrea@mystartup.com, which also matches your company CEO's email address as andrea@mycompany.com, even though they are different people. Each must keep the usage of their email. In addition, your manager asked to have all existing security policies applied for the new employees without any duplication. What should you do to implement the migration?

- A. Create the startup employees in the "mycompany.com" domain, and add a number at the end of the user name whenever there is a conflict. In Gmail > Routing, define a specific route for the OU that targets the startup employees, which will modify the email address domain to "mystartup.com," and remove any numbers previously added. In addition, confirm that the SPF and DKIM records are properly set.
- B. Create an alias domain, mystartup.com, in your existing Google Workspace domain, set up necessary DNS records, and create all startup employees with the alias domain as their primary email addresses.
- C. Create a new Google Workspace domain with "mystartup.com," and create a trust between both domains for reusing the same security policies and sharing employee information within the companies.
- D. Create a secondary domain, mystartup.com, within your current Google Workspace domain, set up necessary DNS records, and create all startup employees with the secondary domain as their primary email addresses.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 36

Your marketing department needs an easy way for users to share items more appropriately. They want to easily link-share Drive files within the marketing department, without sharing them with your entire company.

What should you do to fulfil this request? (Choose two.)

- A. Update Drive sharing for the marketing department to restrict to internal.
- B. In the admin panel Drive settings, create a target audience that has all of marketing as members.
- C. Create a shared drive that's shared internally organization-wide.
- D. Create a shared drive for internal marketing use.
- E. Update the link sharing default to the marketing team when creating a document.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

To enable the marketing department to easily share items within their team without exposing them to the entire company, the following steps should be taken:

- * Create a Shared Drive for Marketing:
- * In the Google Admin console, navigate to Apps > Google Workspace > Drive and Docs.
- * Create a new shared drive specifically for the marketing department.
- * Add all relevant marketing team members to this shared drive, ensuring that it is used for internal purposes only.
- * Set Up a Target Audience:
- * In the Admin console, go to Apps > Google Workspace > Drive and Docs > Sharing settings.
- * Create a target audience that includes all members of the marketing department.
- * This allows for easier link sharing within the department by setting the target audience as the default sharing option.
- * Steps to Configure:
- * Shared Drive: Ensure that the shared drive permissions are set to limit access to the marketing team.
- * Target Audience: Configure the target audience so that marketing team members can easily share files internally without defaulting to company-wide sharing.

By setting up a dedicated shared drive and configuring a target audience, you ensure that file sharing is streamlined and restricted to the appropriate team members.

NEW QUESTION # 37

Your company recently acquired an organization that was not leveraging Google Workspace. Your company is currently using Google Cloud Directory Sync (GCDS) to sync from an LDAP directory into Google Workspace. You want to deploy a second instance of GCDS and apply the same strategy with the newly acquired organization, which also has its users in an LDAP directory. How should you change your GCDS instance to ensure that the setup is successful? (Choose two.)

- A. Provide your current GCDS instance with admin credentials to the recently acquired organization's LDAP directory.
- B. Add an LDAP sync rule to your current GCDS instance in order to synchronize new users.
- C. Set up an additional instance of GCDS running on another server, and handle the acquired organization's synchronization.
- D. Upgrade to the multiple LDAP version of GCDS.
- E. Set up exclusion rules to ensure that users synced from the acquired organization's LDAP are not, suspended.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

Additional GCDS Instance:

Running a separate instance of GCDS on another server allows you to manage synchronization for the acquired organization independently.

This avoids conflicts and simplifies management for different LDAP directories.

Multiple LDAP Version:

Upgrading to the multiple LDAP version of GCDS supports synchronizing data from multiple LDAP directories.

This is useful for handling different organizations with distinct LDAP setups.

Steps for Setting Up:

Install a second instance of GCDS on a separate server.

Configure the new instance with the acquired organization's LDAP details.

If using the multiple LDAP version, upgrade your existing GCDS setup and configure rules for both LDAP directories.

Test the synchronization to ensure proper setup and no conflicts.
