Google Cloud Certified - Professional Google Workspace Administrator Sample Questions (Q72-Q77):

NEW QUESTION # 72

Several employees at your company received messages with links to malicious websites. The messages appear to have been sent by your company's human resources department. You need to identify which users received the emails and prevent a recurrence of similar incidents in the future. What should you do?

- A. Search for the sender's email address by using the security investigation tool. Mark the messages as phishing. Add the sender's email address to the Blocked senders list in the Spam, Phishing and Malware setting in Gmail to automatically reject future messages.
- B. Collect a list of users who received the messages. Search the recipients' email addresses in Google Vault. Export and download the malicious emails in PST file format. Add the sender's email address to a quarantine list setting in Gmail to quarantine any future emails from the sender.
- C. Search for the sender's email address by using the security investigation tool. Delete the messages. Turn on the safety options for spoofing and authentication protection in Gmail settings.
- D. Search the sender's email address by using Email Log Search. Identify the users that received the messages. Instruct them to mark them as spam in Gmail, delete the messages, and empty the trash.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The security investigation tool in Google Workspace allows you to identify the impacted users and messages. By marking the messages as phishing, you acknowledge their malicious nature, helping to protect the users. Adding the sender's email address to the Blocked senders list ensures that future messages from this sender will be automatically blocked, preventing recurrence of similar incidents.

NEW QUESTION # 73

Your organization recently deployed Google Workspace. Your admin team has been very focused on configuring the core services for your environment, which has left you little time to pay attention to other areas. Your security team has just informed you that many users are leveraging unauthorized add-ons, and they are concerned about data exfiltration. The admin team wants you to cut off all add-ons access to Workspace data immediately and block all future add-ons until further notice. However, they approve of users leveraging their Workspace accounts to sign into third-party sites. What should you do?

- A. Set all API services to "restricted access" and ensure that all connected apps have limited access.
- B. Modify your Marketplace Settings to block users from installing any app from the Marketplace.
- C. Remove all client IDs and scopes from the list of domain-wide delegation API clients.
- D. Block each connected app's access.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 74

Your organization has users in the United States and Europe. For compliance reasons you want to ensure that user data is always stored in the region where the user is located. What should you do?

- A. Do nothing. No extra configuration is needed because user data is always stored in the region the user is located.
- B. Populate the Address field on each user record ensuring the country information is accurate.
- C. Create two Google Groups titled "United States" and "Europe." Assign users to either group based on location.
- D. Specify a data region policy for each Organizational Unit (OU) where users are grouped by location.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Step by Step Comprehensive Detailed Explanation:

- * Access the Admin Console: Sign in to your Google Admin console.
- * Navigate to Data Regions: Click on "Account" and then "Data Regions."
- * Create Data Region Policy: Create a data region policy specifying where data should be stored.
- * Apply to OUs: Apply the data region policy to the organizational units (OUs) based on user location, ensuring data is stored in the respective regions.
- * Save Configuration: Save the settings to enforce the data region policies.

NEW QUESTION # 75

A user has reported that they did not receive an email from one of their normal correspondents. What information do you need to collect from the user to investigate the cause of the issue?

- A. The email address of the sender and the subject and date/time of the missing message.
- B. The sender's domain so you can review their SPF and DKIM configuration.
- C. The type of device the individual is using, including the OS version, browser, and browser version.
- D. The sender's IP address, mail client, and mail platform

Answer: A

Explanation:

To investigate the cause of a missing email, you need to collect:

- * The email address of the sender.
- * The subject of the missing message.
- * The date and time when the message was expected. This information allows you to search the email logs in the Admin console to track the email's journey and identify any issues that may have caused it to be delayed or not delivered.
