BCS ISTQB Certified Tester Foundation Level CTFL 4.0 Sample Questions (Q42-Q47):

NEW QUESTION # 42

Which of the following statements about white-box testing is FALSE?

- A. Black-box testing can benefit from using code-related white-box test techniques to increase confidence in the code.
- B. Static testing can benefit from using code-related white-box test techniques during code reviews.
- C. White-box testing allows suggesting test cases for increasing coverage levels which are based on objective measures
- D. Achieving full code coverage for a component or a system ensures that it has been fully tested

Answer: D

Explanation:

Achieving full code coverage does not guarantee that the component or system is fully tested or free of defects. Code coverage metrics indicate the extent to which the source code has been tested, but they do not account for the quality of the tests or whether all possible scenarios have been considered. Other types of testing, including functional, performance, and security testing, are necessary to ensure comprehensive testing. The ISTQB CTFL Syllabus v4.0 highlights that while high code coverage is beneficial, it does not equate to complete testing.

NEW QUESTION # 43

Which of the following is not an example of a typical content of a test completion report for a test project?

- A. The residual risk level if a risk-based test approach was adopted
- B. The unexpected test environment downtime that resulted in slower test execution
- C. The additional effort spent on test execution compared to what was planned
- D. The test procedures of all test cases that have been executed

Answer: D

Explanation:

This answer is correct because the test procedures of all test cases that have been executed are not a typical content of a test completion report for a test project. A test completion report is a document that summarizes the test activities and results at the end of a test project. It usually includes information such as the test objectives, scope, approach, resources, schedule, results, deviations, issues, risks, lessons learned, and recommendations for improvement. The test procedures of all test cases that have been executed are part of the test documentation, but they are not relevant for the test completion report, as they do not provide a high-level overview of the test project outcomes and performance. ### NEW QUESTION # 44

You are performing the role of tester on an Agile project. Which of the following tasks would be your responsibility?

i. Understanding, implementing, and updating the test strategy.

II . Ensuring the proper use of testing tools.

Hi. Coaching other team members in the relevant aspects of testing.

iv . Actively collaborating with developers and business stakeholders to clarify requirements, especially in terms of testability, consistency, and completeness.

v. Participating proactively in team retrospective meeting, suggesting and implementing improvements.

Select the correct answer:

- A. i, iii and v
- B. iii . iv and v

- C. i, ii and iii
- D. i, iv and v

Answer: D

Explanation:

In an Agile project, a tester's responsibilities include understanding, implementing, and updating the test strategy (i), actively collaborating with developers and business stakeholders to clarify requirements, especially in terms of testability, consistency, and completeness (iv), and participating proactively in team retrospective meetings, suggesting and implementing improvements (v). These activities ensure that testing is integrated into the development process, promoting continuous feedback and improvement. The ISTQB CTFL syllabus underlines the collaborative nature of Agile testing and the tester's role in contributing to the team's overall quality goals.

NEW QUESTION # 45

Which statement is true regarding confirmation testing and regression testing?

- A. Confirmation testing is an optional activity whilst regression testing is not negotiable.
- B. Testers' involvement is essential whilst running retesting and regression testing.
- C. Confirmation testing aims to verify that a defect has been resolved and regression testing ensuring that existing functionality still works after a change.
- D. TESTER Involvement is essential whilst running retesting and regression testing.
- E. Confirmation testing confirms the quality of the test being run while regression testing ensures that the software still works after a change has been made.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Confirmation testing, also known as retesting, is conducted to verify that specific defects have been fixed. Regression testing, on the other hand, is performed to ensure that recent changes have not adversely affected existing features of the software. Both types of testing are crucial for maintaining the integrity and quality of the software after modifications.

NEW QUESTION # 46

In Agile teams, testers closely collaborate with all other team members. This close collaboration could be problematic and result in testing-related organizational risks.

Which TWO of the following organization risks could be encountered?

- Testers lose motivation and fail at their core tasks.
- Close interaction with developers causes a loss of the appropriate tester mindset.
- Testers are not able to keep pace with incoming changes in time-constrained iterations.
- Testers, once they have acquired technical development or business skills, leave the testing team.

- A. ii and iv
- B. i and ii
- C. i and iii
- D. ii and iii

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Agile teams, close collaboration among testers and other team members can lead to organizational risks such as: ii. Close interaction with developers causes a loss of the appropriate tester mindset. iv. Testers, once they have acquired technical development or business skills, leave the testing team.

These risks highlight the potential issues of diminished testing perspective and team turnover when testers integrate closely with developers and other roles.
