Huawei HCIE-Datcom V1.0 Sample Questions (Q257-Q262):

NEW QUESTION # 257

iMaster NCE-Campus restricts RESTful APIs. If a client sends a GET request that invokes a RESTful API to obtain site information from iMaster NCE-Campus, which of the following fields should be included in the request header?

- A. X ACCESS TOKEN
- B. ACCESS-TOKEN
- C. X-ACCEPT-TOKEN
- D. ACCEPT-TOKEN

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation:

When invoking RESTful APIs in iMaster NCE-Campus, the client must include the ACCESS-TOKEN in the request header to authenticate the request.

The ACCESS-TOKEN is obtained through authentication and is required for API access control.

The correct format in the HTTP header is:

Authorization: Bearer ACCESS-TOKEN

Other formats like ACCEPT-TOKEN, X-ACCEPT-TOKEN, and X ACCESS TOKEN are not recognized or valid for iMaster NCE-Campus API requests.

Therefore, the correct answer is A.

NEW QUESTION # 258

What can be determined from the following figure?

<R1> display bgp ipv6 routing-table

Total Number of Routes: 2

*>i Network : 3002::3

NextHop : 3000:FDEA::3

MED : 0

Path/Orgn : i

*>i Network : 3002::4

NextHop : 3000:FDEA::3

MED : 0

PrefixLen : 128

LocPrf : 100

PrefVal : 0

Path/Orgn : 65001 i

- A. If no routing policy is configured for the AS_Path attribute, 3002::4/128 originates from AS 65001.
- B. R1 has routes 3002::3/128 and 3002::4/128.
- C. If no routing policy is configured for the AS_Path attribute, 3002::4/128 does not originate from AS 65001.
- D. R1 does not have routes 3002::3/128 and 3002::4/128.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The command output shows:

>i before both networks, which means these routes are the preferred routes () and are learned via internal BGP (i).

Two networks are listed: 3002::3 and 3002::4, which means R1 does have these two routes in its BGP IPv6 routing table.

For 3002::4, the path origin shows 65001 i, which means this route originated from AS 65001 and was learned through IBGP.

The AS_Path attribute is only shown for 3002::4, but both routes are clearly present.

Therefore, the correct conclusion is:
D: R1 has routes 3002::3/128 and 3002::4/128.

NEW QUESTION # 259

Which of the following statements about OPS (Open Programmability System) application scenarios is incorrect?

- A. The OPS can reduce the impact of the network environment in some cases. For example, when collected information is transmitted to a server, the Python script can be used to temporarily store the execution result to the device when the network is disconnected. After the network is reconnected, the execution result is transmitted to the server.
- B. When the OPS is used to automatically deploy unconfigured devices, a Python script is used to obtain the IP addresses of the software and configuration file server and download the system software and configuration file.
- C. To enable a network device to automatically send a configuration file to the server after the device configuration is saved, users can use the maintenance assistant to create a timer trigger condition and periodically run the Python script.
- D. The OPS can be used to automatically check the health status of devices.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation:

A: Correct: OPS can use the maintenance assistant to trigger Python scripts periodically or based on events.

B: Correct: OPS supports automatic deployment using Python scripts to download software and configuration files.

C: Incorrect: OPS does not inherently provide local storage for temporarily saving execution results when the network is disconnected. This would require additional programming logic in the script itself, which is not a built-in feature of OPS.

D: Correct: OPS can run scripts to automatically check device health and report the status.

Therefore, the incorrect statement is C.

NEW QUESTION # 260

The means of the LAND attack is that the attacker sends an SYN packet message with the same source and destination addresses to the target host, the source port and the destination port are the same, and the receiver waits for the final ACK packet to be sent, the connection is always in a semi-connected state, resulting in a full limited TCP reception Waste of resources

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 261

In a scenario where a VXLAN tunnel is dynamically established through BGP EVPN, which of the following statements about symmetric IRB forwarding are correct?

- A. The egress VTEP forwards packets based only on the Layer 2 forwarding table.
- B. The ingress VTEP forwards packets based only on the Layer 2 forwarding table.
- C. Both the ingress VTEP and egress VTEP forward packets based on the Layer 3 forwarding table.
- D. When VTEPs forward inter-subnet user communication packets, the VNI carried in the VXLAN header is the L3 VNI.

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

VXLAN Inter-Subnet Routing with Symmetric IRB

VXLAN supports inter-subnet routing using Integrated Routing and Bridging (IRB). In symmetric IRB, both ingress and egress VTEPs perform Layer 3 forwarding to ensure efficient packet forwarding across subnets.

A. Both the ingress VTEP and egress VTEP forward packets based on the Layer 3 forwarding table.

* In symmetric IRB, both ingress and egress VTEPs perform Layer 3 lookup and forwarding.

* The ingress routes packets before encapsulating them in VXLAN, and the egress performs another Layer 3 lookup to determine final delivery.

D. When VTEPs forward inter-subnet user communication packets, the VNI carried in the VXLAN header is the L3 VNI.

* L3 VNI (Layer 3 VXLAN Network Identifier) is used for inter-subnet routing between VXLAN segments.
