OACETT Internationally Educated Professional Practice Exam Sample Questions (Q104-Q109):

NEW QUESTION # 104

What is a health and safety incident?

- A. It is a sudden event or ongoing condition in which the employee's ability to complete their work at full capacity is compromised or ended altogether.
- B. It is an incident that is reported to the Ontario Ministry of Labour, Immigration, Training and Skills Development.
- C. It is an incident for which an employee is compensated for a loss of wages following a work-related injury.
- D. It is an incident in which a supervisor or manager identifies as having the potential to compromise the health and safety of employees.

Answer: A

Explanation:

1. What is a Health and Safety Incident?

* A health and safety incident is any event that affects an employee's ability to work due to injury, illness, or unsafe conditions.

* This includes:

* Workplace accidents (e.g., slips, falls, equipment malfunctions).

* Exposure to hazardous substances.

* Work-related stress or mental health crises.

2. Types of Workplace Incidents

* Sudden Accidents# A worker falls from scaffolding and breaks a leg.

* Ongoing Conditions# Repetitive strain injuries from prolonged computer use or assembly line work.

* Hazardous Exposures# A worker breathes in toxic fumes without proper ventilation.

3. Why Option B is Correct:

* It correctly defines a health and safety incident as an event or condition that impacts an employee's ability to work safely.

4. Why Other Options Are Incorrect:

* A (Only injuries that result in lost wages)- Incorrect; not all incidents result in wage loss, but they still affect safety.

* C (Only incidents identified by managers)- Many incidents occur without immediate supervision.

* D (Only reported incidents)- Not all incidents are reported, but they still count as workplace safety issues.

- B. A construction company uses material in the construction of the exterior finish of a condominium that does not meet building code requirements. The managers of the construction company feel that no one will notice, however, because the material being used looks very similar to material that does meet building code requirements.
- C. A construction company uses material in the construction of the exterior finish of a condominium that meets building code requirements. However, the managers of the construction company are aware that this material has proven to deteriorate quickly over time and that the condominium will have to replace it within five years.
- D. A construction company uses material in the construction of the exterior finish of a condominium that meets building code requirements. The managers of the construction company have used this material in the past and are confident that it will exceed its advertised lifespan.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 106

What is PLAR?

- A. Prior Learning Academic Review.
- B. Past Learning Assessment Review.
- C. Past Learning Academic Review.

- D. Prior Learning Assessment Recognition.

Answer: D

Explanation:

1. What is PLAR?

Prior Learning Assessment Recognition (PLAR) is a process that evaluates:

* Work experience, informal training, and other non-traditional education to determine if they meet the certification requirements for OACETT.

* Used by OACETT to assess applicants who may not have traditional academic credentials but have industry experience.

2. Why PLAR Matters in Engineering Technology

* Some professionals gain extensive knowledge through work experience, military service, or international education.

* PLAR allows them to demonstrate equivalent competency and qualify for certification.

3. Why Option D is Correct:

* PLAR stands for Prior Learning Assessment Recognition.

4. Why Other Options Are Incorrect:

* A, B, C (Various incorrect names)- The official term is Prior Learning Assessment Recognition (PLAR).

NEW QUESTION # 108

What is a good analogy for a professional organization's Code of Ethics?

- A. The rules of the game for the profession.
- B. The secret handshake for the professionals.
- C. The unwritten rules for belonging to the profession.
- D. The secret code for communicating in the profession.

Answer: A

Explanation:

A Code of Ethics functions as a set of professional rules and guidelines that dictate ethical behavior, responsibilities, and best practices for members of a profession. It is not secret or informal, but a structured set of rules similar to a rulebook in a game.

Step-by-Step Explanation:

* Why Ethics Matter in a Profession:

* Ensures accountability, integrity, and public trust.

* Helps professionals navigate ethical dilemmas and make fair decisions.

* Example: A technologist must disclose a conflict of interest when bidding on a project.

* Why a Code of Ethics is Like "Rules of the Game":

* Every profession operates by certain rules and standards.

* Just as sports or games have clear rules to ensure fair play, a Code of Ethics ensures fair conduct among professionals.

* Why Option D Is Correct:

* The Code of Ethics is a structured guide for professional behavior, similar to how game rules define fair play.

* Why Other Options Are Incorrect:

* A (Unwritten rules)- A Code of Ethics is formally documented and enforced.

* B (Secret code)- Ethical standards are transparent and publicly available.

* C (Secret handshake)- Ethics govern serious professional conduct, not exclusivity.
