The <ligthning-input-field> component is used to create editable fields that respect the field-level security and other attributes of the specified field on an object. It works with the <lightning-record-edit-form> component to display and save the values of record fields. The <ligthning-input-field> component automatically displays the correct input type based on the data type of the field. For example, if the field is a currency field, the component renders as a currency input. The component also respects the user's locale and currency settings. See lightning-input-field1 for more details.
