When should you use the T-Few fine-tuning method for training a model?

- A. For models that require their own hosting dedicated AI cluster
- B. For data sets with hundreds of thousands to millions of samples
- C. For complicated semantical undemanding improvement
- D. For data sets with a few thousand samples or less

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 47

In LangChain, which retriever search type is used to balance between relevancy and diversity?

- A. mmr
- B. top k
- C. similarity_score_threshold
- D. similarity

Answer: A

Explanation:

In LangChain, the "mmr" (Maximal Marginal Relevance) search type is used to balance between relevancy and diversity when retrieving documents. This technique aims to select documents that are not only relevant to the query but also diverse from each other. This helps in avoiding redundancy and ensures that the retrieved set of documents covers a broader aspect of the topic. Maximal Marginal Relevance (MMR) works by iteratively selecting documents that have high relevance to the query but low similarity to the documents already selected. This ensures that each new document adds new information and perspectives, rather than repeating what is already included.
