NEW QUESTION # 89

Fill in the blank to complete the statement.

Fill in the blank to complete the statement.

is a solution for automating the configuration of a device when it is first powered on, using DHCP and TFTP.

Answer:

Explanation:

ZTP

Explanation:

Zero Touch Provisioning (ZTP) is a method used to automate the process of configuring network devices without manual intervention. When a device is first powered on, it uses DHCP to obtain an IP address and other network settings, including the location of a TFTP server from which it can download its initial configuration. This allows devices to be deployed at scale with minimal effort, as they can automatically configure themselves as soon as they are connected to the network.
