A client uses a straightforward custom payment method which allows a pre-generated code to be used as payment. The code is provided directly to customers through email and other communications. The client reports a problem with someone fraudulently guessing the codes correctly. They want to implement an API check that ensures the code exists in their system when the code is applied.
Where should the Developer add this change?

- A. Create a custom validator that will check for this code at the time the order is placed.
- B. Create an after plugin on the canAuthorize method and implement the API check there.
- C. Create a before plugin on the canCapture method and implement the API check there.

Answer: A

Explanation:
The correct approach is to implement a custom payment validator. Validators ensure that the payment method data is validated at the checkout process, before the order is placed.
A (canCapture) is used for payment capture operations, not code validation.
C (canAuthorize) is used for authorization checks, but not the correct place for validating custom input codes.
