NEW QUESTION # 80

In Discovery, what table associates an IP address and a credential?

- A. Tags
- B. Service CI Association
- C. Credential Affinity
- D. Service Affinity

Answer: C

Explanation:

The Credential Affinity table is a table that associates an IP address and a credential in Discovery¹. It is used to store the credential that was successfully used to access a device during Discovery². It can also be used to manually assign a credential to an IP address or a range of IP addresses³. The other options are not tables that associate an IP address and a credential in Discovery. The Service Affinity table is a table that associates a business service and a credential. The Service CI Association table is a table that associates a business service and a configuration item (CI). The Tags table is a table that stores tags that can be applied to records in any table.
