Cloudera CDP Data Engineer - Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q250-Q255):

NEW QUESTION # 250

How does partition pruning contribute to query performance in the Cloudera Data Platform?

- A. By selecting only relevant partitions for query execution
- B. By encrypting data at rest
- C. By increasing the number of partitions
- D. By removing unnecessary data replication

Answer: A

Explanation:

Partition pruning enhances query performance by allowing the engine to skip over partitions of the data that are not relevant to the query, thereby reducing the amount of data scanned and processed.

NEW QUESTION # 251

You need to securely store sensitive data within your Spark application and access it only from authorized nodes. How can you leverage Cloudera security features to achieve this?

- A. Use Cloudera Sentry for role-based access control and data masking
- B. Implement custom encryption/decryption logic within your application
- C. Store sensitive data directly in HDFS without encryption
- D. Leverage Cloudera Knox Gateway for secure access to Spark applications

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Storing data without encryption A is insecure. While custom encryption B is possible, it adds complexity and potential security risks. Combining Cloudera Sentry's access control with data masking and Knox Gateway's secure authentication ensures that only authorized users can access sensitive data within your Spark application.

NEW QUESTION # 252

How does Apache NiFi support schema inference during data flow management?

- A. Utilizing external schema repositories exclusively for schema management
- B. By enforcing static schemas for all data flows
- C. Through processors that automatically detect data formats and schemas
- D. By manually specifying schemas for each data source

Answer: C

Explanation:

Apache NiFi supports schema inference through its processors that can automatically detect and apply schemas to the data as it flows through the system. This capability allows NiFi to manage data flows more dynamically, accommodating various data formats and schemas without requiring manual specification for each data source, thus enhancing flexibility in data ingestion and processing.

NEW QUESTION # 253

What happens when a task in Airflow is marked as "skipped"?

- A. The skipped task's downstream tasks are also skipped, unless their conditions for execution are met independently.
- B. The entire DAG is marked as failed, and no further tasks are executed.
- C. Airflow retries the skipped task until it succeeds.
- D. The skipped task's downstream tasks are automatically executed.

Answer: A

Explanation:

When a task is marked as "skipped" in Airflow, any downstream tasks that depend on it are also skipped, unless those downstream tasks have their conditions for execution met independently through other branches of the DAG. This behavior allows for conditional execution paths within a DAG.

NEW QUESTION # 254

You're deploying your Airflow DAGs to a production environment. What are some best practices to ensure reliability and maintainability?

- A. Schedule DAGs to run as frequently as possible to ensure real-time data processing.
- B. Implement version control for your DAG code and configuration files to track changes and facilitate rollbacks.
- C. Use the same Airflow environment for development, testing, and production deployments.
- D. Grant full access to the Airflow web UI to everyone for monitoring and troubleshooting purposes.

Answer: B,D
