ISACA Certified Information Security Manager Sample Questions (Q327-Q332):

NEW QUESTION # 327

Which of the following is MOST important when designing an information security governance framework?

- A. Aligning with the information security strategy
- B. Assessing the current state of information security
- C. Assessing the availability of information security resources
- D. Aligning with industry best practice frameworks

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 328

Which of the following is the BEST course of action when an organization's incident response team does not have expertise in forensic analysis?

- A. Document the shortcoming.
- B. Develop forensic analysis procedures.
- C. Contract with external forensic experts.
- D. Acquire forensic analysis tools.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 329

Which of the following is the MOST important area of focus when examining potential security compromise of a new wireless network?

- A. Signal strength
- B. Number of administrators
- C. Bandwidth
- D. Encryption strength

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

The number of individuals with access to the network configuration presents a security risk. Encryption strength is an area where wireless networks tend to fall short; however, the potential to compromise the entire network is higher when an inappropriate number of people can alter the configuration. Signal strength and network bandwidth are secondary issues.

NEW QUESTION # 330

From an information security perspective, information that no longer supports the main purpose of the business should be:

- A. protected under the business impact analysis (BIA).
- B. analyzed under the backup policy.
- C. analyzed under the retention policy.
- D. protected under the information classification policy.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

Option A is the type of analysis that will determine whether the organization is required to maintain the data for business, legal or regulatory reasons. Keeping data that are no longer required unnecessarily consumes resources, and, in the case of sensitive personal information, can increase the risk of data compromise. Options B, C and D are attributes that should be considered in the destruction and retention policy. A BIA could help determine that this information does not support the main objective of the business, but does not indicate the action to take.

NEW QUESTION # 331

When developing a classification method for incidents, the categories MUST be:

- A. specific to situations.
- B. regularly reviewed.
- C. assigned to incident handlers.
- D. quantitatively defined.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 332
