HashiCorp Certified: Terraform Associate (003) (HCTA0-003) Sample Questions (Q157-Q162):

NEW QUESTION # 157
Which configuration consistency errors does terraform validate report?

- A. Declaring a resource identifier more than once
- B. A mix of spaces and tabs in configuration files
- C. Differences between local and remote state
- D. Terraform module isn't the latest version

Answer: A

Explanation:
Terraform validate reports configuration consistency errors, such as declaring a resource identifier more than once. This means that the same resource type and name combination isused for multiple resource blocks, which is not allowed in Terraform. For example, resource "aws_instance" "example" {...} cannot be used more than once in the same configuration. Terraform validate does not report errors related to module versions, state differences, or formatting issues, as these are not relevant for checking the configuration syntax and structure. NEW QUESTION # 158
Which of these ate features of Terraform Cloud? Choose two correct answers.

- A. Remote state storage
- B. Automated infrastructure deployment visualization
- C. Automatic backups
- D. A web-based user interface (Ul)

Answer: A,D

Explanation:
Explanation
These are features of Terraform Cloud, which is a hosted service that provides a web-based UI, remote state storage, remote operations, collaboration features, and more for managing your Terraform infrastructure.

NEW QUESTION # 159
You have provisioned some virtual machines (VMs) on Google Cloud Platform (GCP) using the gcloud command line tool. However, you are standardizing with Terraform and want to manage these VMs using Terraform instead. What are the two things you must do to achieve this? Choose two correct answers.

- A. Provision new VMs using Terraform with the same VM names
- B. Run the terraform Import-gcp command
- C. Use the terraform import command for the existing VMs
- D. Write Terraform configuration for the existing VMs

Answer: C,D

Explanation:
To import existing resources into Terraform, you need to do two things1:
Write a resource configuration block for each resource, matching the type and name used in your state file.
Run terraform import for each resource, specifying its address and ID. There is no such command as terraform Import-gcp, and provisioning new VMs with the same names will not import them into Terraform.

NEW QUESTION # 160
One remote backend configuration always maps to a single remote workspace.

- A. False

- B. True

Answer: B

Explanation:
The remote backend can work with either a single remote Terraform Cloud workspace, or with multiple similarly-named remote workspaces (like networking-dev and networking-prod). The workspaces block of the backend configuration determines which mode it uses. To use a single remote Terraform Cloud workspace, set workspaces.name to the remote workspace's full name (like networking-prod). To use multiple remote workspaces, set workspaces.prefix to a prefix used in all of the desired remote workspace names. For example, set prefix = "networking-" to use Terraform cloud workspaces with names like networking-dev and networking-prod. This is helpful when mapping multiple Terraform CLI workspaces used in a single Terraform configuration to multiple Terraform Cloud workspaces3. However, one remote backend configuration always maps to a single remote workspace, either by name or by prefix. You cannot use both name and prefix in the same backend configuration, or omit both. Doing so will result in a configuration error3.

NEW QUESTION # 161

How would you output returned values from a child module in the Terraform CLI output?

- A. Declare the output in both the root and child module
- B. Declare the output in the root configuration
- C. Declare the output in the child module
- D. None of the above

Answer: A

Explanation:
Explanation
To output returned values from a child module in the Terraform CLI output, you need to declare the output in both the child module and the root module. The child module output will return the value to the root module, and the root module output will display the value in the CLI. References = [Terraform Outputs]
