ISQI ISTQB Certified Tester - Foundation Level Extension - Agile Tester Sample Questions (Q20-Q25):

NEW QUESTION # 20

You are working in a software development company which, for many years, used a sequential development model and was organized into separate departments for each functional group (e.g. business analysts, developers, testers) located within their own office space. Your organization has recently changed to a SCRUM agile framework. Which of the following is an important organizational and behavioral best practice for a tester in the SCRUM team that should have also been practiced when using the sequential model?

- A. Cross-functional teamwork means that all team members contribute to testing in various ways. For example, involving people with the test strategy, test planning and execution as well as test reporting.
- B. Co-located teamwork means that all team members, including developers and testers, must sit together in the same office, so they can quickly communicate face-to-face.
- C. Credibility means that the tester must share information with the stakeholders about the test process so that they find the selected test strategy and testing activities trustworthy.
- D. Resilient testing means that the testing process is capable of dealing with rapid changes throughout the development process with test plans being updated during each iteration.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Cross-functional teamwork is an important organizational and behavioral best practice for a tester in the SCRUM team that should have also been practiced when using the sequential model. Cross-functional teamwork means that all team members, regardless of their functional roles, collaborate and share their skills and knowledge to achieve a common goal. In the context of testing, this means that testing is not seen as a separate activity or phase, but as an integral part of the development process. All team members contribute to testing in various ways, such as:

* Involving people with the test strategy, test planning and execution as well as test reporting. This can help ensure that the testing activities are aligned with the business objectives, the user needs, and the technical requirements. It can also help improve the test coverage, the test quality, and the test efficiency.

* Sharing the responsibility for testing among the team members. This can help reduce the workload and the dependency on a single tester or a testing team. It can also help increase the feedback and the communication among the team members, and foster a culture of quality and learning.

* Leveraging the diverse skills and perspectives of the team members. This can help enhance the test design and the test execution by applying different techniques, tools, and approaches. It can also help identify and address the risks, the issues, and the opportunities for improvement from various angles. NEW QUESTION # 21

Which of the following statements about the benefits of the Agile processes promoting early and frequent feedback is NOT true?

- A. Early and frequent feedback enables the team to deliver the features that represent the highest business value to the customer first.
- B. Feedback from well-conducted Agile retrospectives can be used to positively affect the development process over the course of the next iteration.
- C. In Agile projects where feedback is provided early and frequently, defects and incorrect requirements are caught earlier and those problems can be fixed faster.
- D. Increasing the frequency of feedback and communication between all the stakeholders involved in Agile projects eliminates all communication problems.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Agile processes promote early and frequent feedback from the customers, users, testers, developers, and other stakeholders involved in the project. This feedback helps to ensure that the product meets the expectations and needs of the customers and users, and that the development process is continuously improved and adapted to the changing requirements and environment. However, increasing the frequency of feedback and communication does not eliminate all communication problems, as there may still be issues such as misunderstandings, misinterpretations, conflicts, or cultural differences that need to be resolved. Therefore, the statement D is not true, as it implies that communication problems are completely avoided by the Agile processes. NEW QUESTION # 22

Which of the following describes the main purpose of a task management tool in agile projects?

- A. A task management tool allows developers to continuously integrate their code.
- B. A task management tool is used to manage and track user stories, tests and other tasks.
- C. A task management tool is used by team members to share ideas and collaborate on assigned tasks.
- D. A task management tool is used to store source code and automated tests.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 23

Based on the skills required for testers in Agile teams, which of the following activities would you expect least likely to be performed by testers in Agile projects?

- A. Tracking the failures of the unit tests that are written when using the Test-Driven Development practice
- B. Identifying and updating test cases from previous iterations that are affected by the changes made in the current iteration
- C. Actively participating in specification workshops aimed at clarifying user stories through examples that will be transformed into tests
- D. Working collaboratively with a developer to develop and test a feature

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

FromCTFL-AT Syllabus v4.0, Section 3.2Test-Driven Development, and 1.3The Whole-Team Approach, testers:

"Collaborate in test-related activities including test case creation, exploratory testing, and user story clarification."

"Unit tests are typically the responsibility of developers, especially in TDD practices." Therefore, Option A is least likely, as unit test tracking in TDD is primarily a developer responsibility, not a tester's routine task.

* Options B, C, and D all describe key Agile tester activities, such as maintaining regression tests, collaborating with developers, and participating in specification workshops (BDD/ATDD practices)

Learning Objective (K2) - Understand tester roles and responsibilities in Agile

NEW QUESTION # 24

You are a tester in an agile team. The user story you are due to test is still under development so your tests are blocked. The main issue holding progress on this user story is that the developer's unit tests are constantly failing.

As an agile tester, which of the following actions should you take?

- A. Use the time to improve and automate existing test cases of other user stories.
- B. Work together with the developer, suggesting reasons why the tests are failing.
- C. Create a bug report for each of your blocked tests.
- D. Review the design of the problematic user story and improve it where possible.

Answer: B

Explanation:

As an agile tester, you should work together with the developer, suggesting reasons why the tests are failing.

This is an example of the agile principle of collaboration and communication within the team, as well as the agile testing practice of early and frequent feedback. By working together with the developer, you can help to identify and resolve the root causes of the test failures, as well as share your testing knowledge and perspective. This can lead to faster and better quality delivery of the user story, as well as improved team relationships and trust.

Option A is not a good action, because reviewing and improving the design of the user story is not the tester's responsibility, and it may not address the test failures. Option B is also not a good action, because creating bug reports for blocked tests is not an agile way of handling issues, and it may create unnecessary overhead and waste. Option D is not a good action, because it does not help to unblock the current user story, and it may distract you from the sprint goal and the team's focus.
