Splunk Core Certified Power User Exam Sample Questions (Q297-Q302):

NEW QUESTION # 297
Which of the following definitions describes a macro named "samplemacro" that accepts two arguments?

- A. Examplemacro [1,2]
- B. samplemacro[2]
- C. samplemacro(1,2)
- D. u amp -CJEUCXG (2)

Answer: C

Explanation:
In Splunk, a macro can accept arguments, and the correct syntax for a macro that takes two arguments is macro_name(argument1, argument2). In this case, the macro is called samplemacro, and it accepts two arguments, so the correct format would be samplemacro(1,2). This syntax allows for passing dynamic values into the macro, which can then be used to modify the search dynamically based on the arguments provided.

NEW QUESTION # 299
A macro has another macro nested within it, and this inner macro requires an argument. How can the user pass this argument into the SPL?

- A. An argument can be passed to the inner macro by nesting parentheses.
- B. An argument can be passed through the outer macro.
- C. There is no way to pass an argument to the inner macro.
- D. An argument can be passed to the outer macro by nesting parentheses.

Answer: A

Explanation:
The correct answer is D. An argument can be passed to the inner macro by nesting parentheses.
A search macro is a way to reuse a piece of SPL code in different searches. A search macro can take arguments, which are variables that can be replaced by different values when the macro is called. A search macro can also contain another search macro within it, which is called a nested macro. A nested macro can also take arguments, which can be passed from the outer macro or directly from the search string.

To pass an argument to the inner macro, you need to use parentheses to enclose the argument value and separate it from the outer macro argument. For example, if you have a search macro named outer_macro (1) that contains another search macro named inner_macro (2), and both macros take one argument each, you can pass an argument to the inner macro by using the following syntax:

outer_macro (argument1, inner_macro (argument2))

This will replace the argument1 and argument2 with the values you provide in the search string. For example, if you want to pass "foo" as the argument1 and "bar" as the argument2, you can write:

outer_macro ("foo", inner_macro ("bar"))

This will expand the macros with the corresponding arguments and run the SPL code contained in them.

NEW QUESTION # 300

Which delimiters can the Field Extractor (FX) detect? (select all that apply)

- A. Commas
- B. Spaces
- C. Tabs
- D. Pipes

Answer: A,B,D

NEW QUESTION # 301

How are arguments defined within the macro search string?

- A. "arg"
- B. %arg%
- C. arg$
- D. 'arg'

Answer: C

Explanation:
Arguments are defined within the macro search string by using dollar signs on either side of the argument name, such as arg1 or fragment.
