HP Aruba Campus Access Associate Exam Sample Questions (Q95-Q100):

NEW QUESTION # 95

What is the ideal Aruba access switch for a cost-effective connection to 200-380 clients, printers and APs per distribution rack?

- A. Aruba CX 6300
- B. Aruba CX 6200
- C. Aruba CX 6400

- D. Aruba CX 6000

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

The ideal Aruba access switch for a cost-effective connection to 200-380 clients, printers and APs per distribution rack is the Aruba CX 6200. This switch series is a cloud-manageable, stackable access switch series that is ideal for enterprise branch offices and campus networks, as well as SMBs. The CX 6200 series offers the following benefits:

Enterprise-class connectivity: The CX 6200 series supports ACLs, robust QoS, and common protocols such as static and Access OSPF routing.

Power and speed for users and IoT: The CX 6200 series provides built-in 1/10GbE uplinks and 30W to 60W of Class 4 to Class 6 PoE for powering devices such as APs and cameras.

Scalable growth made simple: The CX 6200 series supports Aruba Virtual Switching Framework (VSF) that allows you to quickly grow your network to eight members in a single stack using high-performance built-in 10G SFP ports.

Management flexibility: The CX 6200 series supports a choice of management, including cloud-based and on-prem Central, CLI, switch Web GUI and programmability with AOS-CX operating system, and REST APIs.

The other options are not ideal because:

Aruba CX 6400: This switch series is a high-availability modular switch series that is ideal for versatile edge access to data center deployments. It offers more performance, scalability, and modularity than the CX 6200 series, but it is also more expensive and complex to deploy and manage. It may not be cost-effective for connecting 200-380 clients per distribution rack.

Aruba CX 6300: This switch series is a layer 3 stackable access and aggregation switch series that offers Smart Rate and High Power PoE. It offers more features and performance than the CX 6200 series, but it is also more expensive and may not be necessary for connecting 200-380 clients per distribution rack.

Aruba CX 6000: This switch series is a layer 2 access switch series that offers PoE. It offers less features and performance than the CX 6200 series, and it does not support VSF stacking or routing protocols. It may not be sufficient for connecting 200-380 clients per distribution rack.

NEW QUESTION # 96

What is an advantage of using Layer 2 MAC authentication?

- A. MAC allow lists are easily maintained over time
- B. MAC identifiers are hard to spoof
- C. it matches user names to MAC address
- D. No setup is required on the client

Answer: D

Explanation:

Layer 2 MAC authentication is a method of authenticating devices based on their MAC addresses without requiring any client-side configuration or credentials. The switch sends the MAC address of the device to an authentication server such as ClearPass or RADIUS, which checks if the MAC address is authorized to access the network. If yes, the switch grants access to the device based on the assigned role and policies. If no, the switch denies access or redirects the device to a captive portal for further authentication.

NEW QUESTION # 97

Which feature can network administrators use to centralized RF planning and optimization service when using an Aruba mobility master architecture?

- A. Client Wave
- B. Client Match
- C. AirMatch
- D. Airwave

Answer: C

Explanation:

AirMatch is a feature that provides centralized RF planning and optimization service for Aruba wireless networks. It uses cloud-based algorithms and machine learning to optimize the RF performance and user experience.

NEW QUESTION # 98

A network technician is troubleshooting one new AP at a branch office that will not receive its configuration from Aruba Central. The other APs at the branch are working as expected. The output of the 'show ap debug cloud-server command' shows that the "cloud config received" is FALSE.

After confirming the new AP has internet access, what would you check next?

- A. Verify the AP has a license assigned
- B. Verify the AP can ping the device on arubanetworks.com
- C. Disable and enable activate to trigger provisioning refresh
- D. Disable and enable Aruba Central to trigger configuration refresh

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

If the AP has internet access but does not receive its configuration from Aruba Central, one possible reason is that the AP does not have a license assigned in Aruba Central. A license is required for each AP to be managed by Aruba Central.
