NEW QUESTION # 68

A company produces homeopathic lotions for pain relief. The lotions use a combination of ProductA and ProductB. ProductA is the primary ingredient. You use Products to adjust the concentration of active ingredients in the lotion. ProductC represents the remainder.

You need to ensure that the lotion final product has a consistent concentration of anti-inflammatory agents.

Which two actions should you perform? Each correct answer presents part of the solution.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

- A. Set the formula line type of ProductA to Active.
- B. Set the formula line type of ProductA to Compensating
- C. Set the formula line type of ProductC to None
- D. Set the formula line type of ProductB to Compensating

- E. Set the formula line type of ProductB to Active

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

The formula line type of an item determines how the item is handled during master planning and batch order production. The Active line type indicates that the item is an active ingredient that has a variable quantity and a fixed potency. The Compensating line type indicates that the item is used to adjust the total quantity of the formula to a fixed amount¹.

In this scenario, ProductA is the primary ingredient and ProductB is used to adjust the concentration of active ingredients in the lotion. Therefore, ProductA should have the Active line type and ProductB should have the Compensating line type. ProductC represents the remainder, so it can have any line type except Active or Compensating¹.

Setting the formula line type of ProductB to Active or ProductA to Compensating would not ensure that the lotion final product has a consistent concentration of anti-inflammatory agents. Setting the formula line type of ProductC to None would have no effect on the concentration of active ingredients in the lotion¹.
