NEW QUESTION # 37
After a generated a repot, you notice the information you were expecting to see in not included in it. However, you confirm that the logs are there:
Which two actions should you perform? (Choose two.)

- A. Disable auto-cache.
- B. Check the time frame covered by the report.
- C. Increase the report utilization quota.
- D. Test the dataset.

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

When a generated report does not include the expected information despite the logs being present, there are several factors to check to ensure accurate data representation in the report.

Option A - Check the Time Frame Covered by the Report:

Reports are generated based on a specified time frame. If the time frame does not encompass the period when the relevant logs were collected, those logs will not appear in the report.

Ensuring the time frame is correctly set to cover the intended logs is crucial for accurate report content.

Option D - Test the Dataset:

Datasets in FortiAnalyzer define which logs and fields are pulled into the report. If a dataset is misconfigured, it could exclude certain logs. Testing the dataset helps verify that the correct data is being pulled and that all required logs are included in the report parameters.

NEW QUESTION # 40

As part of your analysis, you discover that an incident is a false positive. You change the incident status to Closed: False Positive. Which statement about your update is true?

- A. The incident number will be changed
- B. The audit history log will be updated.
- C. The incident will be deleted.
- D. The corresponding event will be marked as mitigated.

Answer: B

Explanation:
When an incident in FortiAnalyzer is identified as a false positive and its status is updated to
"Closed:
False Positive," certain records and logs are updated to reflect this change.
Option A - The Audit History Log Will Be Updated:
FortiAnalyzer maintains an audit history log that records changes to incidents, including updates to their status. When an incident status is marked as "Closed: False Positive," this action is logged in the audit history to ensure traceability of changes. This log provides accountability and a record of how incidents have been handled over time.

NEW QUESTION # 41

Exhibit. Which statement about the event displayed is correct?

- A. The security event risk is considered open.
- B. The security risk was blocked or dropped.
- C. An incident was created from this event.
- D. The risk source is isolated.

Answer: B

Explanation:
In FortiOS and FortiAnalyzer logging systems, when an event has a status of "Mitigated" in the Event Status column, it typically indicates that the system took action to address the identified threat. In this case, the Web Filter blocked the web request to a suspicious destination, and the event status "Mitigated" confirms that the action was successfully implemented to neutralize or block the security risk.
