NCLEX-RN exam is designed to ensure that nurses are prepared to provide safe and effective care to patients in a variety of healthcare settings. Passing the NCLEX-RN Exam is a requirement for licensure as a registered nurse in the US, and it is critical for aspiring nurses to prepare thoroughly for the exam to achieve success.

NCLEX National Council Licensure Examination(NCLEX-RN) Sample Questions (Q78-Q83):

NEW QUESTION # 78

A 4-year-old child has Down syndrome. The community health nurse has coordinated a special preschool program. The nurse's primary goal is to:

- A. Prepare child to enter mainstream education
- B. Provide respite care for the mother
- C. Provide a demanding and challenging educational program
- D. Facilitate optimal development

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

(A) Respite care for the family may be needed, but it is not the primary goal of a preschool program. (B) Facilitation of optimal growth and development is essential for every child. (C) A demanding and challenging educational program may predispose the child to failure. Children with retardation should begin with simple and challenging educational programs. (D) Mental retardation associated with Down syndrome may not permit mainstream education. A preschool program's primary goal is not preparation for mainstream education but continuation of optimal development.

NEW QUESTION # 79

Provide the 1-minute Apgar score for an infant born with the following findings: Heart rate: Above 100 Respiratory effort: Slow, irregular Muscle tone: Some flexion of extremities Reflex irritability: Vigorous cry Color: Body pink, blue extremities

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

(A) Seven out of a possible perfect score of 10 is correct. Two points are given for heart rate above 100; 1 point is given for slow, irregular respiratory effort; 1 point is given for some flexion of extremities in assessing muscle tone; 2 points are given for vigorous cry in assessing reflex irritability; 1 point is assessed for color when the body is pink with blue extremities (acrocyanosis). (B) For a perfect Apgar score of 10, the infant would have a heart rate over 100 but would also have a good cry, active motion, and be completely pink. (C) For an Apgar score of 8 the respiratory rate, muscle tone, or color would need to fall into the 2-point rather than the 1-point category. (D) For this infant to receive an Apgar score of 9, four of the areas evaluated would need ratings of 2 points and one area, a rating of 1 point.

NEW QUESTION # 80

Parents of a child with rheumatic fever express concern that she will always be arthritic. The nurse discusses their concerns and tells them the joint pain usually:

- A. Subsides in 3-6 days
- B. Is responsive to ibuprofen (Motrin)
- C. Is relieved by aspirin
- D. Subsides in <3 weeks

Answer: D

Explanation:

(A)

Joints usually remain inflamed and tender until the disease runs its course in <3 weeks.

(B)

This response does not answer the question of whether she will always be arthritic. (C) This response does not answer the question asked. (D) The disease takes <3 weeks to run its course.

NEW QUESTION # 81

A 55-year-old client is unconscious, and his physician has decided to begin tube feeding him using a smallbore silicone feeding tube (Keofeed, Duo-Tube). After the tube is inserted, the nurse identifies the most reliable way to confirm appropriate placement is to:

- A. Place the tip of the tube under water and observe for air bubbles
- B. Auscultate air insufflated through the tube
- C. Obtain a chest x-ray
- D. Aspirate gastric contents

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

(A) Aspiration of gastric contents is usually a reliable way to verify tube placement. However, if the client has dark respiratory secretions from bleeding, tube feedings could be mistaken for respiratory secretions; in other words, aspirating an empty stomach is less reliable in this instance. In addition, it is common for small-bore feeding tubes to collapse when suction pressure is applied. (B) Insufflation of air into large-bore nasogastric tubes can usually be clearly heard. In small-bore tubes, it is more difficult to hear air, and it is difficult to distinguish between air in the stomach and air in the esophagus. (C) A chest x-ray is the most reliable means to determine placement of small-bore nasogastric tubes. (D) Observing for air bubbles when the tip is held under water is an unreliable means to determine correct tube placement for all types of nasogastric tubes. Air may come from both the respiratory tract and the stomach, and the client who is breathing shallowly may not force air out of the tube into the water.

NEW QUESTION # 82

A female client at 10 weeks' gestation complains to her physician of slight vaginal bleeding and mild cramps. On examination, her physician determines that her cervix is closed. The client is exhibiting signs of:

- A. An incomplete abortion
- B. A threatened abortion
- C. An inevitable abortion
- D. A missed abortion

Answer: B

Explanation:

(A) An inevitable abortion includes the signs of cervical dilation and effacement as well as pain and bleeding. (B) A threatened abortion is a condition in which intrauterine bleeding occurs early in pregnancy, the cervix remains undilated, and the uterine contents are not necessarily expelled. (C) An incomplete abortion occurs when some portions of the products of conception are expelled from the uterus. (D) A missed abortion occurs when the embryo dies in utero and is retained in the uterus.
