268. Frage

An organization is choosing between API-led connectivity and other integration approaches.

According to MuleSoft, which business benefits is associated with an API-led connectivity approach using Anypoint Platform?

- A. Greater project predictability through tight coupling of systems

- B. Increased developer productivity through self-service of API assets
- C. Higher outcome repeatability through centralized development
- D. Improved security through adoption of monolithic architectures

Antwort: B

Begründung:

According to MuleSoft, a significant business benefit associated with an API-led connectivity approach using Anypoint Platform is increased developer productivity through self-service of API assets. API-led connectivity promotes the creation of reusable APIs that can be easily discovered and consumed by developers across the organization. This self-service model reduces dependencies, accelerates development, and fosters innovation by enabling teams to quickly build and integrate applications using existing APIs without waiting for central IT to provide access.

269. Frage

An organization has defined a common object model in Java to mediate the communication between different Mule applications in a consistent way. A Mule application is being built to use this common object model to process responses from a SOAP API and a REST API and then write the processed results to an order management system.

The developers want Anypoint Studio to utilize these common objects to assist in creating mappings for various transformation steps in the Mule application.

What is the most idiomatic (used for its intended purpose) and performant way to utilize these common objects to map between the inbound and outbound systems in the Mule application?

- A. Use the WSS module
- B. Use the Java module
- C. Use the Transform Message component
- D. Use JAXB (XML) and Jackson (JSON) data bindings

Antwort: D

270. Frage

When designing an upstream API and its implementation, the development team has been advised to not set timeouts when invoking downstream API. Because the downstream API has no SLA that can be relied upon.

This is the only downstream API dependency of that upstream API. Assume the downstream API runs uninterrupted without crashing. What is the impact of this advice?

- A. A load-dependent timeout of less than 1000 ms will be applied by the Mule runtime in which the downstream API implementation executes.
- B. A default timeout of 500 ms will automatically be applied by the Mule runtime in which the upstream API implementation executes.
- C. The invocation of the downstream API will run to completion without timing out.
- D. An SLA for the upstream API CANNOT be provided.

Antwort: D

Begründung:

An SLA for the upstream API CANNOT be provided.
