Oracle Cloud Infrastructure 2025 Multicloud Architect Professional Sample Questions (Q12-Q17):

NEW QUESTION # 12

What does the term "multicloud" mean and how can it help organizations manage their IT infrastructure?

- A. The use of cloud services from multiple providers to leverage the best features and services of each
- B. The use of multiple cloud services from a single provider for redundancy and high availability
- C. The deployment of a single cloud service across multiple regions and data centers for better performance
- D. The integration of on-premises infrastructure with cloud services for a hybrid cloud approach

Answer: A

Explanation:

"Multicloud" refers to using services from multiple cloud providers (e.g., OCI, Azure, GCP) to leverage their unique strengths, enhancing flexibility, resilience, and cost-efficiency. Option A describes hybrid cloud, Option C is single-provider redundancy, and Option D is multi-region deployment-not multicloud. Oracle's multicloud strategy documentation defines this approach as a key IT management enabler.

NEW QUESTION # 13

Which of the following components is NOT a core part of the Oracle Database@Google Cloud architecture within the Google Cloud environment?

- A. Google Cloud Storage Buckets directly mounted to Exadata compute nodes.
- B. Google Cloud Router
- C. Oracle Exadata Infrastructure
- D. Google Cloud Project and VPC

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 14

What is the function of a NAT Gateway in an OCI VCN?

- A. To provide a secure tunnel for connecting to on-premises networks.
- B. To provide DNS resolution for instances within the VCN.
- C. To allow instances in private subnets to initiate outbound connections to the internet without having public IP addresses.
- D. To balance network traffic across multiple instances in a subnet.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Here's a breakdown of the function of a NAT Gateway in OCI:

Outbound Internet Access for Private Subnets: The primary purpose of a NAT Gateway is to enable instances in private subnets (subnets without direct internet access) to initiate outbound connections to the internet. This is crucial for tasks like downloading software updates, accessing external APIs, or connecting to other internet-based services.

No Public IP Required: Instances in private subnets using a NAT Gateway do not need to have public IP addresses assigned to them. This enhances security by preventing direct inbound connections from the internet to these instances.

NAT Functionality: The NAT Gateway performs Network Address Translation (NAT), which translates the private IP addresses of the instances to a public IP address owned by the NAT Gateway when they initiate outbound connections. When the responses come back from the internet, the NAT Gateway translates the destination IP address back to the private IP address of the originating instance.

Why the other options are incorrect:

A). To provide a secure tunnel for connecting to on-premises networks: Secure tunnels to on-premises networks are provided by VPN Connect or FastConnect, not a NAT Gateway.

C). To balance network traffic across multiple instances in a subnet: Network traffic load balancing is handled by Load Balancers, not a NAT Gateway.

D). To provide DNS resolution for instances within the VCN: DNS resolution is provided by a DNS Resolver within the VCN, not a NAT Gateway.

NEW QUESTION # 15

What is the primary difference between using Oracle FastConnect with an Oracle partner and using FastConnect with colocation with Oracle?

- A. The geographical locations available for connections
- B. The type of virtual circuits supported
- C. The method of establishing the physical connection to Oracle Cloud Infrastructure
- D. The number of available redundancy models

Answer: C

Explanation:

FastConnect with an Oracle partner uses a third-party network to connect to OCI, while colocation with Oracle involves a direct physical connection at an OCI data center. The difference lies in the physical connection method, not locations (Option A), redundancy (Option B), or circuits (Option C). Oracle's FastConnect documentation outlines these deployment models.

NEW QUESTION # 16

Which of the following statements accurately describes the IAM model in Oracle Database@Google Cloud?

- A. Google Cloud IAM is used to control access to both Oracle and Google Cloud resources from a single Google identity.
- B. Oracle IAM is the only IAM model used in the entire deployment.
- C. Oracle IAM and Google Cloud IAM are fully integrated to provide centralized user management.
- D. Oracle IAM is used for the OCI resources in the OCI pod, and Google Cloud IAM controls access to the Google Cloud resources.

Answer: D

Explanation:

This is a key aspect of the multi-cloud architecture. There is no direct, deep integration of IAM systems. Instead, each cloud provider maintains its own identity and access management:

Oracle IAM: Manages access to the Exadata infrastructure, databases, and other resources within the OCI environment (the "OCI pod").

Google Cloud IAM: Manages access to Google Cloud resources like Compute Engine, VPCs, and other services.

Users will typically have separate credentials and identities for each environment. This separation maintains clear boundaries of responsibility and control
