OCPE Pesticide Applicator Category 7A General and Household Pest Control Exam Sample Questions (Q41-Q46):

NEW QUESTION # 41

The certified commercial pesticide applicator responsible for a commercial pesticide operator must be able to be at the application site within a reasonable amount of time, meaning:

- A. Eight hours
- B. Three hours
- C. 24 hours

Answer: B

Explanation:

In New Jersey, the NJDEP Pesticide Control Program outlines the responsibilities of a certified commercial pesticide applicator supervising a pesticide operator. According to NJDEP regulations (N.J.A.C. 7:30-6.2), a certified applicator must be able to respond to the application site within a "reasonable amount of time" if they are not physically present. The definition of "reasonable" in this context is clarified in training materials and NJDEP guidance as being within three hours to ensure proper oversight, especially in case of emergencies or issues during application. This aligns with the need for timely supervision to ensure compliance with safety and application standards for general and household pest control under Category 7A. Eight hours or 24 hours would be too long to address potential issues effectively, such as spills, misapplications, or safety concerns.

NEW QUESTION # 42

A commercial pesticide applicator certified in category 7A:

- A. Can treat turf and ornamental areas for ticks and fleas
- B. Can treat turf and ornamental areas of a property for bedbugs and grubs
- C. Is not allowed to treat turf and ornamental areas of a property

Answer: A

Explanation:

Category 7A (General and Household Pest Control) includes applying pesticides to control pests like ticks and fleas inside and outside structures, including turf and ornamental areas immediately adjacent to the structure (e.g., lawns or gardens). The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 1: Scope of Category 7A) confirms this scope.

Option A is incorrect because bedbugs are indoor pests, and grubs require Category 3B (Turf Pest Control) certification.

Option B is incorrect, as 7A applicators can treat outdoor areas for certain pests like ticks and fleas.

NEW QUESTION # 43

Control of bedbugs is best achieved through:

- A. Use of residual insecticides
- B. A regimen of programmed pesticide application
- C. Integrated pest management practices

Answer: C

Explanation:

Bedbug control is most effective using Integrated Pest Management (IPM) practices, which combine multiple methods such as inspection, monitoring, heat treatments, vacuuming, and targeted pesticide use. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 7):

Bedbugs emphasize IPM due to bedbugs' resistance to many pesticides and their ability to hide in cracks and crevices. Option A (programmed pesticide application) is less effective and can lead to resistance. Option C (residual insecticides) is a component of control but not the best standalone method.

NEW QUESTION # 44

State pesticide regulations regarding pesticide service vehicles require the:

- A. MSDS sheets for all pesticides be on board the vehicle
- B. Commercial pesticide applicator's license number be on the vehicle
- C. Pesticide storage area be physically separate from the driver or passengers

Answer: C

Explanation:

NJDEP regulations (N.J.A.C. 7:30-9.10) require that pesticide service vehicles have a storage area for pesticides that is physically separate from the driver or passenger compartment to prevent exposure in case of spills or leaks. This is a safety measure to protect the driver and ensure compliance with transportation regulations. Option B is incorrect because, while the business registration number is required on the vehicle (see Question 8), the applicator's license number is not. Option C is incorrect because, although having Safety Data Sheets (SDS, formerly MSDS) on board is a best practice, it is not a strict requirement under New Jersey law for service vehicles; SDS sheets must be available at the business location or application site.

NEW QUESTION # 45

The second most common cause of pesticide poisoning to applicators is:

- A. Dermal exposure
- B. Inhalation
- C. Fire

Answer: B

Explanation:

The second most common cause of pesticide poisoning for applicators is inhalation, as pesticides can be inhaled as vapors, mists, or dusts during mixing or application, especially in enclosed spaces. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 3: Pesticide Safety) notes that inhalation exposure often follows dermal exposure (the most common cause, see Question 18) in frequency. Option A (fire) is not a common cause of poisoning, though it poses other risks. Option C (dermal exposure) is the most common cause, not the second.
