Esri Enterprise Administration Professional 2201 Sample Questions (Q25-Q30):

NEW QUESTION # 25

An organization has a requirement to geocode crime incidents from a CSV uploaded to the ArcGIS Enterprise portal. How should the organization configure their ArcGIS Server site to meet this requirement?

- A. With a registered geodatabase
- B. As the hosting server
- C. As an ArcGIS GeoEvent Server

Answer: B

Explanation:

To enable geocoding of addresses from CSV files uploaded to the ArcGIS Enterprise portal, the organization must designate a federated ArcGIS Server site as the hosting server. This hosting server must have a relational data store configured. Once set up, the portal can utilize a geocode utility service to process the addresses. This configuration allows users to map addresses from CSV files added to the portal.

Reference Source: ArcGIS Enterprise documentation on configuring the portal to geocode addresses

NEW QUESTION # 26

An organization publishes a map image layer to ArcGIS Enterprise that references data from a user-managed PostgreSQL geodatabase.

The schema of a table is updated to add a field, but the map service cannot be stopped due to a Service Level Agreement (SLA). Schema locking is disabled.

Even after restarting the map service and database, the new field is not shown in the REST endpoint.

Which action should the administrator perform?

- A. Clear the enterprise geodatabase cache
- B. Ensure that the field is made visible by default in the ArcGIS Enterprise portal
- C. Republish the map service by overwriting the original
- D. Re-enable schema locking for the map service

Answer: C

Explanation:

Map image layers (map services) do not automatically detect schema changes, especially in registered enterprise geodatabases. Even with schema locking disabled, services cache the original schema at the time of publishing. To reflect the new field, you must overwrite the existing service.

From ArcGIS Server documentation:

"If the schema of a dataset is changed after a service is published (such as adding a field), the change is not automatically reflected in the service. You must overwrite the service or republish the map to reflect schema updates."

* Option B is not applicable; field visibility in the portal reflects what's in the published service definition.

* Option C is related to editing access, not field visibility.

* Option D is not a valid administrative action in this context.

NEW QUESTION # 27

An organization wants to use the standard feature analysis tools available in ArcGIS Enterprise to create hosted feature layers for planning and design.

Which data store is required for this work?

- A. Tile cache data store
- B. Spatiotemporal big data store
- C. File-based geodatabase
- D. Relational data store

Answer: D

Explanation:

The standard feature analysis tools in ArcGIS Enterprise (e.g., buffer, overlay, aggregate points) require hosted feature layers, which depend on the relational data store (a component of ArcGIS Data Store). The relational data store is the default location for hosting feature layers.

From ArcGIS Enterprise documentation:

"To use the standard spatial analysis tools and create hosted feature layers, the ArcGIS Data Store (relational) must be configured and set as the default hosting location."

* Option A (spatiotemporal big data store) is used for real-time and big data feeds, not standard analysis.

* Option C supports cached tiles, not feature layers.

Reference: ArcGIS Enterprise - Configuring the Relational Data Store for Hosting Feature Layers

NEW QUESTION # 28

A GIS administrator must share an imagery service with another ArcGIS Enterprise. The administrator sets up a distributed collaboration with the other ArcGIS Enterprise and shares the service as a reference. The users in the other organization keep being prompted for credentials.

Which action should the administrator perform?

- A. Configure the service with anonymous access
- B. Save viewer credentials in the collaboration
- C. Set the collaboration workspace to send and receive
- D. Share the image service as a copy

Answer: B

Explanation:

When sharing a referenced service through a distributed collaboration, users accessing the service from the guest organization need valid credentials unless credentials are stored with the item. To prevent repeated credential prompts, the administrator should save credentials with the item when it is shared, particularly for read-only access like viewing imagery.

From the ArcGIS Enterprise documentation on collaborations:

"When sharing services as references across ArcGIS Enterprise organizations, credentials must be stored with the item to ensure seamless access unless the service is public."

* Option A (sharing as a copy) is an alternative, but it's not what was asked for and might not be ideal for large imagery.

* Option C (workspace direction) affects sync behavior, not access control.

* Option D would only work if the service is made public, which often isn't acceptable for internal data.

Reference: ArcGIS Enterprise - Distributed Collaborations and Shared Credential Requirements

NEW QUESTION # 29

An organization must limit the users who can publish services that reference data in a user-managed database.

At the same time, all users must be able to access and edit the data in that user-managed data store.

How should the database be registered?

- A. As a data store item in the ArcGIS Enterprise portal
- B. As an ArcGIS-managed data store in Server Manager
- C. As a relational data store in ArcGIS Data Store

Answer: A

Explanation:

Registering the database as a data store item in the ArcGIS Enterprise portal allows administrators to control who can publish services referencing the data. By sharing the data store item with specific groups or individuals, administrators can restrict publishing capabilities to authorized users. At the same time, all users can be granted appropriate permissions to access and edit the data directly in the user-managed database, independent of the publishing privileges.

Registering the database as an ArcGIS-managed data store in Server Manager does not provide the same level of control over publishing permissions. Registering it as a relational data store in ArcGIS Data Store is intended for managed data storage and does not apply to user-managed databases.
