In which of the following circumstances is Free, Prior, and Informed Consent (FPIC) most applicable?

- A. Members agreeing to a social media platform's privacy policy
- B. Governments passing international standards against forced labor practices
- C. Company constructing a fish farm next to a native waterfront community

Answer: C

Under the disclosure guide for public equities published by the Pension and Lifetime Savings Association (PLSA), fund managers are expected to report on:

- A. stewardship activities only.
- B. both ESG integration and stewardship activities
- C. ESG integration only.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Under the disclosure guide for public equities published by the Pension and Lifetime Savings Association (PLSA), fund managers are expected to report on both ESG integration and stewardship activities. Here's a detailed explanation:

ESG Integration:

Fund managers are required to disclose how they integrate ESG factors into their investment processes. This includes the identification and management of ESG risks and opportunities.

They need to provide examples of material ESG factors identified in their analysis, how these factors influence their investment decisions, and how they monitor ESG risks over time.

Stewardship Activities:

Stewardship activities involve how fund managers engage with companies they invest in to promote sustainable business practices and good governance.

This includes voting at shareholder meetings, engaging in dialogue with company management, and participating in collaborative initiatives aimed at improving ESG standards across the industry.

CFA ESG Investing Reference:

The CFA Institute's ESG curriculum emphasizes the dual role of ESG integration and stewardship in sustainable investing. Both aspects are crucial for ensuring that ESG considerations are fully embedded in the investment process and that fund managers actively contribute to improving corporate practices through engagement and voting.

NEW QUESTION # 314

Which of the following ESG screening methodologies is most likely to result in a well-diversified portfolio? Screening on:

- A. both a relative basis and an absolute basis
- B. a relative basis only
- C. an absolute basis only

Answer: A

Explanation:

Screening on both a relative basis and an absolute basis is most likely to result in a well-diversified portfolio.

Relative Screening: This involves comparing companies within the same industry or sector to identify the top or bottom performers based on ESG criteria. It ensures that the portfolio maintains exposure to various industries.

Absolute Screening: This sets fixed thresholds for ESG criteria that companies must meet to be included in the portfolio, regardless of their industry. It ensures that the portfolio includes only companies that meet a certain standard of ESG performance.

Diversification: Combining both methods allows for a broader and more balanced approach to ESG integration, ensuring that the portfolio is diversified across sectors while maintaining high ESG standards.

CFA ESG Investing Reference:

The CFA Institute's ESG Investing materials emphasize the benefits of using both relative and absolute screening to achieve a well-diversified portfolio that aligns with ESG objectives. This combined approach helps in capturing a wide range of high-performing ESG companies across different industries.
