The Pass4guide NCLEX-RN desktop practice test software and web-based practice test software both are the mock National Council Licensure Examination(NCLEX-RN) (NCLEX-RN) exam that stimulates the actual exam format and content.

NCLEX-RN is a computerized adaptive test that measures the knowledge, skills, and abilities of registered nurses across four categories: Safe and Effective Care Environment, Health Promotion and Maintenance, Psychosocial Integrity, and Physiological Integrity. NCLEX-RN exam is designed to assess the nurse's ability to make critical decisions, think critically, and provide safe and effective patient care.

NCLEX-RN exam is a computerized adaptive test (CAT) which means that the questions are selected based on the test-taker's responses. The test-taker will start with a moderate difficulty level question, and the next question will be determined by their response to the previous question. NCLEX-RN Exam will continue in this manner until the computer program has determined the test-taker's level of competency. NCLEX-RN exam covers a wide range of nursing topics such as health promotion, psychosocial integrity, physiological adaptation, and pharmacological and parenteral therapies. The NCLEX-RN exam is a challenging test that requires extensive studying and preparation. However, passing the exam is a critical step towards becoming a licensed registered nurse and embarking on a fulfilling career in the nursing profession.

NCLEX National Council Licensure Examination(NCLEX-RN) Sample Questions (Q449-Q454):

NEW QUESTION # 449

A 58-year-old client on a general surgery unit is scheduled for transurethral resection of the prostate (TURP) in 2 hours. The nurse explains to the client that this procedure means:

- A. Removal of the prostate tissue by way of a lower abdominal midline incision through the bladder and into the prostate gland
- B. Removal of prostate tissue by an open surgical approach through a low horizontal incision, bypassing the bladder, to the prostate gland
- C. Removal of the prostate tissue by an open surgical approach through an incision between the ischial tuberosities, the scrotum, and the rectum
- D. Removal of prostate tissue by a resectoscope that is inserted through the penile urethra

Answer: D

Explanation:

Section: Questions Set D

Explanation:

(A) This describes a suprapubic (transvesical) prostatectomy procedure. (B) This is the correct description of a TURP procedure. (C) This describes a perineal prostatectomy procedure. (D) This describes a retropubic (extravesical) prostatectomy procedure.

NEW QUESTION # 450

A child becomes neutropenic and is placed on protective isolation. The purpose of protective isolation is to:

- A. Provide the child with privacy
- B. Isolate the child from other clients and the nursing staff
- C. Protect the family from curious visitors
- D. Protect the child from infection

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

(A) The child no longer has normal white blood cells and is extremely susceptible to infection. (B) There are more appropriate ways to provide privacy, and there is no need to protect the child from healthy visitors. (C) Visitors and visiting hours may be at the client's and/or family's request without regard to the isolation precaution. (D) The child may have strong positive relationships with other clients or staff. As long as proper precautions are observed, there is no reason to isolate her from them.

NEW QUESTION # 451

Due to his prolonged history of alcohol abuse, an alcoholic client will most likely have deficiencies of which of the following nutrients?

- A. Vitamin C and zinc
- B. Vitamin A and biotin
- C. Thiamine and pyroxidine
- D. Folic acid and niacin

Answer: C

Explanation:

(A) Chronic alcoholism can lead to deficiencies of B complex vitamins including thiamine and pyroxidine. (B) Chronic alcoholism can lead to deficiencies of vitamins A, D, K, and B complex. (C) Chronic alcoholism can lead to deficiencies of vitamins A, D, K, and B complex. (D) Vitamins A, D, K, and B require bile salts to be absorbed from the gastrointestinal tract. A damaged liver does not form bile salts.

NEW QUESTION # 452

On the third postpartum day, a client complains of extremely tender breasts. On palpation, the nurse notes a very firm, shiny appearance to the breasts and some milk leakage. She is bottle feeding. The nurse should initially recommend to her to:

- A. Apply ice packs to the breasts and wear a supportive, well-fitting bra
- B. Take 2 ibuprofen (Motrin) tablets by mouth now because the baby will be returning for feeding in 20 minutes
- C. Take a warm shower and express milk from both breasts until empty
- D. Allow the infant to breast-feed at the next feeding time to empty the breasts

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

(A) Judicious use of analgesics is appropriate with breast engorgement; however, mechanical suppression would be the initial recommendation. (B) Breast-feeding every 112-3 hours will reduce and/or prevent breast engorgement. Breast-feeding will promote milk production, which will compound the distention and stasis of the venous circulation of engorgement in a bottlefeeding mother. (C) Ice packs reduce milk flow while the snug, supportive bra provides mechanical suppression and decreases pulling on Cooper's ligament. In addition, breast binders or ace bandages may be used for some women. (D) Warmth promotes milk production and may stimulate the let-down reflex. These measures would contribute to the venous congestion of engorgement.

NEW QUESTION # 453

The nurse is caring for a client with pancreatitis. Which of the following IV medications would the nurse expect the physician to prescribe for control of pain in this client?

- A. Meperidine (Demerol)
- B. Ketorolac tromethamine (Toradol)
- C. Morphine sulfate
- D. Promethazine (Phenergan)

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

(A) Morphine sulfate is contraindicated in clients with pancreatitis because it may cause spasms of the sphincter of Oddi and increase pancreatic pain. (B) Ketorolac tromethamine is currently not approved by the Food and Drug Administration for IV use. (C) Promethazine is a medication that has no analgesic properties. (D) Meperidine is the drug of choice for clients with pancreatitis. It will not cause spasms at the sphincter of Oddi, which can lead to increased pancreatic pain.
