Splunk Core Certified Advanced Power User Sample Questions (Q24-Q29):

NEW QUESTION # 24

Which of the following is accurate about cascading inputs?

- A. The final input has no impact on previous inputs.
- B. Only the final input of the sequence can supply a token to searches.
- C. Inputs added to panels can not participate.
- D. They can be reset by an event handler.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Cascading inputs in Splunk dashboards allow the selection in one input (like a dropdown, radio button, etc.) to determine the available options in the subsequent input, creating a dependent relationship between them. An event handler can be configured to reset subsequent inputs based on the selection made in a preceding input (Option A), ensuring that only relevant options are presented to the user as they make selections. This approach enhances the dashboard's usability by guiding the user through a logical flow of choices, where each selection refines the scope of the following options.

NEW QUESTION # 25

What XML element is used to pass multiple fields into another dashboard using a dynamic drilldown?

- A. `<link field="sources_field_name">`
- B. `<pas_token field="sources_field_name">`
- C. `<condition field="sources_Field_name">`
- D. `<drilldown field="sources_Field_name">`

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Splunk Simple XML for dashboards, dynamic drilldowns are configured within the `<drilldown>` element, not `<link>`, `<condition>`, or `<pass_token>`. To pass multiple fields to another dashboard, you would use a combination of `<set>` tokens within the `<drilldown>` element. Each `<set>` token specifies a field or value to be passed. The correct configuration might look something like this within the `<drilldown>` element:

```
<drilldown>
<set token="token1">$row.field1$</set>
<set token="token2">$row.field2$</set>
<link target="_blank">/app/search/new_dashboard</link>
</drilldown>
```

In this configuration, `$row.field1$` and `$row.field2$` are placeholders for the field values from the clicked event, which are assigned to `token1` and `token2`. These tokens can then be used in the target dashboard to receive the values. The `<link>` element specifies the target dashboard. Note that the exact syntax can vary based on the specific requirements of the drilldown and the dashboard configuration.

NEW QUESTION # 26

What is the value of base lisy in the Search Job Inspector for the search `index=sales clientip=170.192.178.10`?

- A. `[192 AND 10 AND 178 AND 170 index::sales]`
- B. `[index::sales AND 469 10 702 390]`
- C. `[AND 10 170 178 192 index::sales]`
- D. `[index::sales AND 192 AND 10 AND 178 AND 170]`

Answer: D

Explanation:

The base lisy expression represents how Splunk parses and simplifies a search command. In this case, the lisy format shows how Splunk is breaking down the search terms to effectively perform the search.

NEW QUESTION # 27

Which command processes a template for a set of related fields?

- A. `xyseries`
- B. `foreach`
- C. `untable`
- D. `bin`

Answer: B

Explanation:

The `foreach` command in Splunk is used to apply a processing step to each field in a set of related fields, making it ideal for performing repetitive tasks across multiple fields without having to specify each field individually. This command can process a template of commands or functions to apply to each specified field, thereby streamlining operations that need to be applied uniformly across multiple data points.

NEW QUESTION # 28

What default Splunk role can use the Log Event alert action?

- A. can_delete
- B. User
- C. Power
- D. Admin

Answer: D

Explanation:

In Splunk, the Admin role (Option D) has the capability to use the Log Event alert action among many other administrative privileges. The Log Event alert action allows Splunk to create an event in an index based on the triggering of an alert, providing a way to log and track alert occurrences over time. The Admin role typically encompasses a wide range of permissions, including the ability to configure and manage alert actions.
