CFA Institute Certificate in ESG Investing Sample Questions (Q353-Q358):

NEW QUESTION # 353

When assessing credit and ESG ratings, which of the following statements is most accurate?

- A. The correlation between country ESG risk and credit ratings is high
- B. The correlation between ESG ratings among rating providers is high
- C. The correlation between credit ratings among credit rating agencies (CRAs) is low

Answer: A

Explanation:

There is a high correlation between country ESG risk and credit ratings. Countries with higher ESG risks typically face higher borrowing costs and lower credit ratings due to the perceived increased risk associated with environmental, social, and governance factors. This correlation reflects the importance of ESG factors in assessing the overall creditworthiness and financial stability of countries.

NEW QUESTION # 354

Which of the following organizations is not a provider of both ESG-related and non-ESG-related products and services?

- A. Factset

Answer: B

Explanation:

Step 1: Identifying ESG and Non-ESG Providers

S&P (Standard & Poor's): Provides both ESG-related and non-ESG-related products and services, including credit ratings, indices, and analytical services across various sectors.

Factset: Offers a range of financial data and analytics, including ESG data, ratings, and insights, along with other financial products and services.

RepRisk: Specializes in ESG data, focusing on identifying and assessing ESG risks. It does not offer a broad range of non-ESG financial products and services.

NEW QUESTION # 355

The role of auditors is to assess the financial reports prepared by management and to provide assurance that:

- A. the reports fairly represent the performance and position of the business
- B. the numbers are correct
- C. there is no fraud within the business.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The role of auditors is to assess the financial reports prepared by management and to provide assurance that the reports fairly represent the performance and position of the business. Auditors do not guarantee that the numbers are correct or that there is no fraud; rather, they provide an opinion on the overall fairness and accuracy of the financial statements.

* Audit Opinion: Auditors provide an independent opinion on whether the financial statements are presented fairly, in all material respects, in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework.

* Reasonable Assurance: Auditors aim to obtain reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error. This involves evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies and the reasonableness of significant estimates made by management.

* Stakeholder Confidence: By providing assurance on the fairness of financial reports, auditors enhance the confidence of stakeholders, including investors, creditors, and regulators, in the financial information provided by the company.

NEW QUESTION # 356

Compared to public companies, creating private company scorecards is challenging as:

- A. less information is available in the public domain

- B. rating agencies are more critical of private companies
- C. management is more unwilling to disclose commercially sensitive information

Answer: A

Explanation:

Creating ESG scorecards for private companies presents unique challenges compared to public companies:

Less information is available in the public domain (A): Private companies are not required to disclose as much information as public companies, which are subject to regulatory requirements for transparency and reporting. This lack of publicly available data makes it more difficult to assess and create comprehensive ESG scorecards for private companies.

Rating agencies are more critical of private companies (B): While rating agencies might have stringent criteria, the primary challenge is the availability of data rather than the critical nature of the rating agencies.

Management is more unwilling to disclose commercially sensitive information (C): While management's unwillingness to disclose information can be a factor, the fundamental issue is the overall lower level of mandatory disclosure for private companies. Public companies have established reporting standards and are legally obligated to provide certain information, making the data more readily accessible.

Therefore, the main reason why creating private company scorecards is challenging is due to the limited availability of information in the public domain, making it difficult to gather comprehensive ESG data.
