You want to prevent users from saving data in a form if the value entered for Headcount is greater than 1000. What is the most efficient means to accomplish this?

- A. Create a Configurable Consolidation rule.
- B. Create a Task Manager rule.
- C. Create a Groovy rule.
- D. Create a valid intersection rule.

Answer: C

Explanation:

To prevent users from saving data in a form if the value entered for Headcount is greater than 1000, you can create a Groovy rule that checks the value of the Headcount member and throws an exception if it exceeds the limit. This is the most efficient means to accomplish this because Groovy rules can be executed on forms and can validate data before saving. Task Manager rules, Configurable Consolidation rules, and valid intersection rules are not suitable for this requirement because they either run after data is saved or do not have the ability to check the value of a specific member.
