OCPE Pesticide Applicator Category 7A General and Household Pest Control Exam Sample Questions (Q28-Q33):

NEW QUESTION # 28

The IPM style of pest control includes:

- A. One-time reactive pesticide applications
- B. Pre-established pesticide applications according to a schedule
- C. A reduction of pesticide use

Answer: C

Explanation:

Integrated Pest Management (IPM) focuses on sustainable pest control by minimizing pesticide use and integrating multiple control methods (e.g., cultural, mechanical, biological). The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A(Chapter 4: IPM) highlights that IPM aims for a reduction of pesticide use through prevention and non-chemical methods. Option A (pre-established applications) contradicts IPM's reactive, need-based approach. Option B (one-time reactive applications) may be part of IPM but does not capture its broader goal of reducing pesticide reliance.

NEW QUESTION # 29

The use of check valves ____ to prevent back siphonage.

- A. Isn't necessary
- B. Is a good idea
- C. Is required by New Jersey state law

Answer: C

Explanation:

Back siphonage occurs when pesticide solution is drawn back into the water supply during application, posing a contamination risk. NJDEP regulations (N.J.A.C. 7:30-9.11) mandate the use of check valves or anti-siphon devices to prevent this, making it a legal requirement in New Jersey. The General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A(Chapter 5: Pesticide Application) also emphasizes this as a standard safety practice. Option A understates the requirement, and Option B is incorrect because it is necessary and legally mandated.

NEW QUESTION # 30

To help prevent pesticide resistance, IPM suggests:

- A. Routine preventative spraying
- B. Use of multiple components in the control of a pest population
- C. Increased dosage to knock out initial infestation

Answer: B

Explanation:

Pesticide resistance occurs when pests develop tolerance to a pesticide due to overuse. IPM strategies, as outlined in the General

Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A (Chapter 4: IPM), recommend using multiple components (e.g., rotating pesticide classes, incorporating non-chemical methods like sanitation or traps) to control pests and reduce resistance risk. Option A (routine spraying) increases resistance by overexposing pests to the same chemical. Option C (increased dosage) can exacerbate resistance and is not an IPM practice.

NEW QUESTION # 31

Which is the correct choice for the following application situation using TEMPRID?

For an outdoor application for ticks, the:

- A. 7A category does not cover treatment for ticks outdoors; you would need a 7B category certification
- B. Suggested rate of application is 0.075% per 1000 sq. ft.
- C. Suggested rate of application is 0.54 fluid ozs. per 1000 sq. ft.

Answer: C

Explanation:

TEMPRID SC (a common pesticide for Category 7A) is labeled for outdoor tick control. The label specifies a rate of 0.54 fl. oz. per 1000 sq. ft. for outdoor perimeter applications, which aligns with the General Pest Management: Guide for Commercial Applicators - Category 7A(Chapter 5: Pesticide Application) for tick control. Option A is incorrect because Category 7A does cover outdoor tick treatments adjacent to structures (see Question 63). Option B (0.075% per 1000 sq. ft.) refers to a concentration rate for indoor applications, not the volume rate for outdoor use.

NEW QUESTION # 32

The recertification requirements for a commercial pesticide applicator are:

- A. 80 dollars per year
- B. 16 credits per category and 8 credits core within 5 years
- C. 8 credits core, 24 credits in a category within 3 years

Answer: B

Explanation:

NJDEP requires commercial pesticide applicators to recertify every five years. For Category 7A applicators, this involves earning 8 credits in Core (general pesticide safety and regulations) and 16 credits in each category (e.g., 7A) within that five-year period (N.J.A.C. 7:30-6.4). Option A is incorrect because the category credits are 16, not 24, and the timeframe is five years, not three. Option B (80 dollars per year) is irrelevant to recertification credits, though there may be fees for licensing.
