Esri ArcGIS Pro Associate 2025 Sample Questions (Q69-Q74):

NEW QUESTION # 69

In ArcGIS Pro, which type of unit of measure is always used for a vertical coordinate system?

- A. Linear units
- B. Angular units
- C. Direction units

Answer: A

Explanation:

Vertical coordinate systems always use linear units to measure elevation or depth (e.g., meters, feet). This differs from horizontal coordinate systems, which may use angular units (degrees) for geographic coordinates.

* Angular units (Option B) apply to latitude and longitude in horizontal systems.

* Direction units (Option C) apply to bearings or azimuths, not elevation.

Therefore, the correct answer is A.

NEW QUESTION # 70

An attribute table contains three columns with details of monthly rainfall for three consecutive years. A GIS analyst wants to compare the total rainfall, mean rainfall, and the minimum and maximum rainfall for each year.

Which tool should the analyst use to most efficiently compare this tabular data?

- A. Data Engineering view
- B. Create Field Statistics Chart
- C. Summary Statistics

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Data Engineering view in ArcGIS Pro provides quick access to key statistics (total, mean, min, max, etc.) for any numeric fields in a table. This allows rapid inspection of multiple fields without running separate geoprocessing tools or creating charts.

* Create Field Statistics Chart (Option B) creates charts but is not as efficient for comparing multiple fields simultaneously.

* Summary Statistics (Option C) creates grouped output tables but is more suitable for aggregation across rows, not across multiple fields.

NEW QUESTION # 71

A GIS technician wants to share one layer from their map as a feature service to a portal.

Which workflow should the technician use to accomplish this task?

- A. Right-click the layer > Sharing > Share As Web Layer
- B. Click the Share tab > Web Layer > Publish Web Layer
- C. Right-click the layer > Sharing > Share As Layer Package

Answer: A

Explanation:

Right-clicking the specific layer and selecting "Share As Web Layer" allows the technician to directly publish that individual layer as a feature service to a portal. This avoids sharing the entire map or unrelated layers.

* Share tab > Web Layer (Option A) is used for sharing multiple layers but is less direct for single-layer publishing.

* Layer Package (Option B) creates a package for sharing offline, not a web feature service.

Therefore, the correct answer is C.

NEW QUESTION # 72

A GIS technician is trying to publish an image service to their organization's portal. The technician needs to ensure service stability when rendering client-side by multiple coworkers at once.

Which capability should the technician specify when publishing?

- A. Enable the WMS Service capability
- B. Maximum item size per request
- C. Processing templates

Answer: B

Explanation:

Setting the Maximum Item Size Per Request controls how much data can be requested at one time, balancing server load and client-side rendering. Adjusting this value helps ensure stable performance for multiple concurrent users accessing large imagery datasets.

* Processing templates (Option A) define raster function chains but do not control service stability.

* WMS Service capability (Option C) allows publishing as a WMS service but does not directly address client-side stability for image services.

Therefore, the correct answer is B.

NEW QUESTION # 73

Which raster format can ArcGIS Pro display but not write?

- A. MrSID
- B. IMAGINE Image
- C. GIF

Answer: A

Explanation:

ArcGIS Pro can read and display MrSID format rasters but cannot write or export data into MrSID format because it is a proprietary format that requires special licensing for encoding.

* IMAGINE Image (Option A) is fully supported for both reading and writing.

* GIF (Option B) can be written for exporting simple images but is not ideal for full raster datasets.

* MrSID (Option C) is read-only by default in ArcGIS Pro.

Therefore, the correct answer is C.
