WGU Information Technology Management QGC1 Sample Questions (Q113-Q118):

NEW QUESTION # 113

Which process includes assessing and prioritizing threats to reduce the potential impact on an organization?

- A. Risk management

- B. Penetration testing
- C. Cyber hygiene
- D. Threat modeling

Answer: A

Explanation:

Risk management is the process of identifying, assessing, prioritizing, and mitigating threats to reduce the potential impact on an organization. It ensures that risks such as cyberattacks, system failures, or compliance violations are proactively managed through policies, controls, and safeguards.

Option A: Cyber hygiene refers to regular practices like updating software and using strong passwords.

Option B: Penetration testing identifies vulnerabilities but does not prioritize overall organizational risks.

Option C: Threat modeling analyzes system-specific threats but is narrower in scope than risk management.

Thus, the correct answer is Risk management.

NEW QUESTION # 116

Which type of operating system is commonly used in specialized business devices like point-of-sale systems, industrial controllers, or smart appliances?

- A. A Linux-based system designed to operate on embedded hardware
- B. A desktop system used to run office productivity software
- C. A mobile system designed for personal communication and entertainment
- D. A Chrome OS cloud-based system used to access web applications from a laptop

Answer: A

Explanation:

Embedded operating systems are lightweight operating systems designed for specialized hardware with specific functions. These are often Linux-based and optimized for devices such as point-of-sale (POS) systems, industrial controllers, smart appliances, and medical devices. They provide stability, security, and resource efficiency in environments where the device is dedicated to one or a few specialized tasks.

Option A: Refers to general-purpose desktop OS (e.g., Windows, macOS), not specialized.

Option B: Refers to Chrome OS, which is designed for laptops and cloud computing.

Option D: Refers to mobile OS (Android/iOS), focused on consumer use, not industrial or specialized embedded devices.

Thus, the correct answer is a Linux-based embedded operating system.
