NEW QUESTION # 344

A company uses the percentage-of-completion method and reports the foil wing:

	Year 1	Year 2
Construction costs	US $100	US $200
Estimated cost to complete at year-end	300	0

The contract price is US $1,000. What is the profit recognized in Year 2?

- A. US $550
- B. US $800
- C. US $150 B US $400

Answer: B

Explanation:

At the end of Year 1, total cost was expected to be US $400 ($100 incurred + $300 estimated cost to complete), and estimated total profit was US $600 ($1,000 price - $400 estimated total cost). Hence, the amount of profit recognized in Year 1 was US $150 [($600 e$100 incurred - $400 estimated total cost)]. The project was completed in Year 2 at an additional cost of US $200. Actual profit was therefore US $700 - $1,000 - $300 actual total cost). Profit recognized in Year 2 is US $5: 1$700 total - $150 recognized in Year 1.

NEW QUESTION # 345

The problem just described is best approved by use of which quantitative method?

- B. Exponential smoothing, multiple parameters.
- C. Integrated autoregressive-moving average (ARIMA) modeling.
- D. Queuing theory.

Answer: D

The latter may be a direct cast if paid employees are waiting, or an opportunity cast in the case of waiting customers. The objective of the queuing theory is to minimize the total cast of the system, including bath service and waiting casts, far a given rate of arrivals. This minimization occurs at the paint where the cast of waiting is balanced by the cast of providing service. A bank has two drive-in lanes to serve customers: one attached to the bank itself and one on an island. One teller serves bath stations. The bank is interested in determining the average waiting times of customers and has developed a model based on random numbers. The two key factors are the time between successive car arrivals and the time customers wait in line. Assume that the analysis begins with cars just arriving at bath service windows, bath requiring 3 minutes of service time. Car 1 is the attached window attached to the bank unless that window has more cars waiting than the island window. The lone teller will always serve the car that arrived first. If two cars arrive simultaneously, the one at the attached window will be served before the one at the island.

NEW QUESTION # 346

Which of the following is true regarding reporting on the quality assurance and improvement program (QAIP)?

- A. The QAIP and the resulting action plan must be made available to external assessors
- B. The results of ongoing monitoring must be communicated annually to the board and other appropriate stakeholders
- C. The results of any external assessments and level of conformance with the Standards must be reported to the board before completion

- D. The results of any periodic self-assessment and level of conformance with the Global Internal Audit Standards must be reported to the board before completion

Answer: B

Explanation:

The CAE must communicate the results of the QAIP, including both ongoing monitoring and periodic assessments, to the board and senior management.
