NEW QUESTION # 24

Which component of the IT security CIA triad is a driver for enabling data encryption?

- A. Application
- B. Integrity
- C. Availability
- D. Confidentiality

Answer: D

Explanation:

Confidentiality ensures that sensitive information is protected from unauthorized access. Encryption is a key mechanism used to maintain confidentiality by converting readable data into a secure format that can only be accessed with a decryption key.

- * Integrity ensures data is not altered improperly but does not directly relate to encryption.
- * Availability focuses on system uptime and accessibility.
- * Application is not a component of the CIA triad.

NEW QUESTION # 25

An attacker issues commands to access a file on a network drive and overwrite it with new data. What is the purpose of the attack?

- A. Launch point
- B. Denial of availability
- C. Data modification
- D. Data export

Answer: C

Explanation:

Data modification attacks involve unauthorized changes to stored data, altering information to mislead, disrupt, or destroy integrity. Attackers may modify logs, transactions, or records for fraud or sabotage.

- * Launch point is when a system is used to attack others.
- * Data export is the theft of data.
- * Denial of availability makes data inaccessible, but does not necessarily modify it.

NEW QUESTION # 26

In the process of setting up a Linux-based network system, a technician needs to determine if there is connectivity to a hostname. Which command should be used?

- A. ifconfig
- B. ping

- C. dig
- D. nslookup

Answer: B

Explanation:

The ping command in Linux is used to check network connectivity to a specific hostname or IP address. It sends ICMP Echo Request packets and measures response times.

- * nslookup is used for DNS lookups, not connectivity testing.
- * ifconfig displays network interface configurations but does not test connectivity.
- * dig is used for detailed DNS queries.

NEW QUESTION # 27

An organization has experienced a series of data breaches and needs to ensure that data remains protected even if intercepted. Which security measure should be implemented?

- A. Role-based access control (RBAC)
- B. Data encryption
- C. Patch management
- D. Two-factor authentication (2FA)

Answer: B

Explanation:

Data encryption protects sensitive information by encoding it into an unreadable format, ensuring that even if attackers intercept the data, they cannot decipher it without the proper decryption key. This is crucial for protecting stored and transmitted data.

- * RBAC controls user access but does not secure data in transit.
- * 2FA strengthens authentication but does not secure stored or transmitted data.
- * Patch management fixes software vulnerabilities but does not directly protect intercepted data.

NEW QUESTION # 28

A host is already set up with an operating system. An administrator wants to install a hypervisor atop the operating system to allow for setting up virtual machines.

Which hypervisor should be used?

- A. Open source
- B. Proprietary
- C. Type 1
- D. Type 2

Answer: D

Explanation:

A Type 2 hypervisor (hosted hypervisor) runs on top of an existing operating system and allows for the creation of virtual machines. Examples include VMware Workstation and Oracle VirtualBox.

- * Type 1 hypervisors run directly on hardware without an OS (e.g., VMware ESXi, Microsoft Hyper-V).
- * Open-source and proprietary describe licensing models, not hypervisor types.
