IBM watsonx Generative AI Engineer - Associate Sample Questions (Q180-Q185):

NEW QUESTION # 180

You are developing a tuned language model for a healthcare chatbot that provides concise responses to patient inquiries. Using Tuning Studio, you want to ensure the model is well-optimized for generating responses specific to medical terminology while maintaining efficiency.

Which of the following represents the correct workflow to create a tuned model using Tuning Studio?

- A. Select a pre-trained model, upload the custom medical dataset, fine-tune the hyperparameters, and evaluate the model's performance.

- B. Input the dataset, manually adjust the learning rate and batch size, and export the fine-tuned model without evaluation.
- C. Select a model, upload the dataset, and let Tuning Studio automatically generate synthetic data to improve model training.
- D. Load the model, automatically adjust its architecture, and deploy it to production.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 181

You are designing a Retrieval-Augmented Generation (RAG) system that will handle real-time queries from users, using a combination of a retriever and a transformer-based generator.

Which of the following implementation details is the most critical to ensure that the system delivers responses in a timely manner while maintaining accuracy?

- A. The retriever should use exact match algorithms to minimize retrieval time and complexity.
- B. The system should cache previous queries and responses to avoid invoking the retriever and generator multiple times.
- C. The retriever should utilize an efficient vector search algorithm with approximate nearest neighbor (ANN) techniques to balance speed and accuracy.
- D. The retriever and generator should operate independently of each other to avoid communication overhead.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 182

In the context of a Retrieval-Augmented Generation (RAG) system, which type of retriever is best suited for retrieving documents based on semantic similarity in a vector space?

- A. Exact match retriever, which retrieves documents that exactly match the query string.
- B. Dense retriever, which converts both the query and documents into vectors and retrieves based on similarity in the vector space.
- C. Boolean retriever, which uses logical operators (AND, OR, NOT) to filter documents based on keyword presence.
- D. Hierarchical retriever, which first applies keyword-based filters and then ranks documents using machine learning models.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 183

Which of the following represents the most effective use of example input prompts within IBM Watsonx's Prompt Lab for generating a high-quality response?

- A. Crafting prompts with very specific and detailed instructions, ensuring the model follows a strict framework for the desired response.
- B. Using prompts with complex sentence structures and advanced terminology to challenge the model's understanding capabilities.
- C. Using example prompts that introduce multiple topics at once to evaluate how well the model handles multitasking during response generation.
- D. Writing prompts that are extremely vague, allowing the model to freely interpret the input and generate diverse responses.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 184

You are tasked with optimizing a Generative AI model by reducing the cost per inference without sacrificing the quality of output. Which of the following prompt modifications is the most effective approach to achieve this goal?

- A. Use more descriptive language in the prompt to improve output quality.
- B. Add additional context to the prompt to guide the model more effectively.
- C. Repeat the main instruction several times to ensure the model understands it.
- D. Simplify the prompt by reducing the number of tokens used.

Answer: D
