Salesforce Certified Platform Developer II (PDII) Sample Questions (Q81-Q86):

NEW QUESTION # 81

A developer is inserting, updating, and deleting multiple lists of records in a single transaction and wants to ensure that any error prevents all execution.

How should the developer implement error exception handling in their code to handle this?

- A. Use Database methods to obtain lists of Database.SaveResults.
- B. Use a try-catch statement and handle DML cleanup in the catch statement.
- C. Use a try-catch and use sObject.addError() on any failures.
- D. Use Database.setSavepoint {} and Database.rollback with a try-catch statement.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Using Database.setSavepoint() and Database.rollback() within a try-catch statement is the recommended approach for handling transactions that involve multiple DML operations. This allows the developer to roll back all changes if an error occurs, ensuring that partial changes are not committed to the database.

NEW QUESTION # 82

A company requires all internal users to submit a Case for adding a new Account in Salesforce. The case record captures all the data required to create an Account. The case approval process is a manual process.

When a case is approved, an Account record should automatically be created based on the case details. What is the recommended solution?

- A. Develop a Before Update trigger on Case to create an Account record based on Case Status.
- B. Develop an After Update trigger on Case to create an Account record based on Case Status.
- C. Configure a custom button on the Case page to update the Case Status and insert a new Account record.
- D. Develop a Lightning Process to create an Account Record when the Case status becomes Approved.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 83

Refer to the exhibit

<apex:form>
  <apex:pageBlockSection title="Opportunity Search" id="searchSection">
    <apex:input label="opportunity name" type="text" value="{!search}" />
    <apex:commandButton value="Search" action="{!search}" />
  </apex:pageBlockSection>
  <apex:pageBlockSection title="Opportunity List" id="opportunityList">
    <!-- DATA Table -->
  </apex:pageBlockSection>
</apex:form>
</apex:page>

Users of this Visualforce page complain that the page does a full refresh every time the Search button is pressed. What should the developer do to ensure that a partial refresh is made so that only the section identified with opportunity List is re-drawn on the screen?

- A. Enclose the DATA table within the <apex:actionRegion> tag.
- B. Implement the render attribute on the <apex:commandButton> tag.
- C. Ensure the action method search returns null.
- D. Implement the <apex:actionFunction> tag with immediate = true.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The developer should implement the render attribute on the apex:commandButton tag to ensure that a partial refresh is made so that only the section identified with opportunity List is re-drawn on the screen. The render attribute specifies the ID of one or more components that are redrawn when the result of an AJAX update request returns to the client. The developer can use the render attribute to limit the scope of the refresh to the apex:pageBlock component that contains the data table, and avoid refreshing the entire page. Enclosing the data table within the apex:actionRegion tag will not help, as the apex:actionRegion tag defines a section of a page that demarcates a form within a form, and allows the developer to limit the processing of form elements to the contents of the region. However, it does not affect the refresh of the page or the components. Ensuring the action method search returns null will not help, as it will only prevent the page from reloading, but it will not refresh the data table with the new search results. Implementing the apex:actionFunction tag with immediate = true will not help, as the apex:actionFunction tag defines a JavaScript function that can invoke a controller action method, and the immediate attribute specifies whether the action method is executed immediately, without processing any validation rules. However, it does not affect the refresh of the page or the components. Reference: [apex:commandButton], [apex:actionRegion], [apex:actionFunction], [Visualforce Developer Guide]
