Peoplecert PeopleCert DevOps Foundationv3.6Exam Sample Questions (Q73-Q78):

NEW QUESTION # 73

What is one of the PRIMARY benefits of Continuous Delivery?

- A. It automates all of the tasks associated with development and operations
- B. It prioritizes working on new features over keeping software deployable
- C. It ensures that all releases are deployed into production in a timely manner
- D. It reduces the cost, time, and risk of delivering incremental changes to the business

Answer: D

Explanation:

Continuous Delivery's primary benefit is that it reduces the cost, time, and risk of delivering incremental changes. By keeping software deployable at all times, teams can ship small, low-risk releases as needed.

- * A: Prioritizing features over deployability increases risk.
- * B: Not all releases are deployed immediately; CD keeps them ready.
- * D: CD doesn't automate everything—some manual steps may remain, especially in Continuous Delivery (vs. Continuous Deployment).

Extract-style reference:

"Continuous Delivery reduces deployment pain by ensuring that code is always in a deployable state, decreasing the cost, time, and risk associated with releases."

-Continuous Delivery, Jez Humble & David Farley

PeopleCert Syllabus: Highlights CD as a strategy for safer, more efficient business change.

NEW QUESTION # 74

An organization is using ChatOps to improve communication and collaboration.

How can this organization transfer incident-related data from its chat client to its IT service management tool?

- A. Manually cut and paste the data
- B. Use an Application Programming Interface (API)
- C. None of the above
- D. It doesn't need to as ChatOps is only used for minor incidents

Answer: B

Explanation:

ChatOps is the integration of chat platforms with tools and workflows, allowing teams to manage operations and incidents directly through chat.

* Using an API (Application Programming Interface) is the correct, scalable way to transfer incident-related data automatically from chat clients to ITSM (IT Service Management) tools, preserving traceability and reducing manual errors.

Why not manual cut/paste?

Manual processes are error-prone and slow; DevOps aims for automation and integration.

Extract-style reference:

"APIs enable seamless transfer of information between ChatOps platforms and ITSM tools, supporting automation, accuracy, and auditability in incident management."

-DevOps Handbook; ChatOps: Managing Operations and Collaboration in the Cloud, Jason Hand PeopleCert DevOps Foundation v3.6: Promotes APIs for integration, automation, and collaboration.

NEW QUESTION # 75

The CIO of an online retailer is excited about the potential of DevOps for her organization. She tells her managers that she wants DevOps to be fully implemented by the end of the year. Last year, she mandated the same approach for agile software development. When the managers share this information with their teams, they are met with apathy and passive resignation. The staff is tired of the frequent changes in direction.

What can the managers do to encourage their teams to be more enthusiastic about DevOps?

- A. Establish and publish goals and metrics for DevOps success
- B. Reorganize the department's structure to remove silos and create DevOps teams
- C. Empower people to participate and contribute their knowledge and ideas
- D. Architect a DevOps toolchain that will demonstrate the value of more automation

Answer: C

Explanation:

When teams have experienced frequent top-down mandates without adequate involvement, they may feel change fatigue and resist new initiatives. PeopleCert DevOps Foundation v3.6 emphasizes the importance of engagement and empowerment to build buy-in and ownership for DevOps transformation.

Empowering people means involving them in decisions, encouraging contribution of their ideas, and making them active participants in shaping the DevOps adoption plan. This approach builds trust, reduces resistance, and taps into collective knowledge, leading to solutions that are practical and widely accepted.

Options A, B, and C can support DevOps adoption but do not address the root cause of low enthusiasm—lack of involvement.

Empowerment fosters intrinsic motivation, which is essential for sustained cultural change.

Thus, D is the most effective choice.

NEW QUESTION # 76

Which of the following is NOT a metric for culture?

- A. Retention
- B. Employee Net Promoter Score (eNPS)
- C. Deployment frequency
- D. Engagement and morale

Answer: C

Explanation:

Deployment frequency is not a culture metric.

* It's a process metric, indicating how often code is released.

* Culture metrics focus on engagement, morale, retention, psychological safety, and NPS.

Why not the others?

* Employee NPS: Measures employee satisfaction and willingness to recommend.

* Engagement/morale: Direct indicators of cultural health.

* Retention: How well an org keeps talented people, reflecting culture.

Extract-style reference:

"Measuring DevOps culture relies on employee engagement, morale, and retention, not on delivery metrics like deployment frequency."

-State of DevOps Report

PeopleCert DevOps Foundation v3.6: Culture metrics focus on people, not just process.

NEW QUESTION # 77

Who are the PRIMARY stakeholders for DevOps?

- A. Business representatives
- B. Security and QA testers
- C. Software engineers and operational teams
- D. All of the Above

Answer: D

Explanation:

In DevOps, success depends on collaboration between all key stakeholders across the software delivery value stream. This includes:

* Software Engineers & Operations Teams: Responsible for designing, building, deploying, and maintaining applications and services.

* Business Representatives: Define requirements, prioritize work, and ensure alignment with organizational goals.

* Security and QA Testers: Ensure that quality, compliance, and security are built into the delivery pipeline from the start (shift-left approach).

PeopleCert emphasizes the idea of "BizDevOps" and "DevSecOps," highlighting the need for business, development, operations, and security to work as an integrated team. The removal of silos and the inclusion of all perspectives ensure that value is delivered faster and more reliably, while maintaining quality and compliance.

Choosing only one group would miss the cross-functional nature of DevOps. Hence, the correct answer is D - All of the Above.
