NEW QUESTION # 14

Which of the following describes an attack in which an attacker sets up a rogue AP that tricks users into connecting to the rogue AP instead of the legitimate network?

- A. Tailgating

- B. Shoulder surfing
- C. Stalkerware
- D. Evil twin

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

An evil twin is a rogue wireless access point set up to mimic a legitimate Wi-Fi network. Unsuspecting users may connect to it, giving attackers the opportunity to intercept traffic, steal credentials, or install malware.

The evil twin often uses the same SSID as the real network to fool users.

A: Stalkerware is spyware installed to track user activity, typically on personal devices.

C: Tailgating is a physical security breach involving unauthorized entry behind someone with access.

D: Shoulder surfing involves observing a person entering confidential data, such as PINs or passwords.

- A. Ensure appropriate MDM policies are applied
- B. Check for unauthorized device administrators
- C. Run a mobile malware scan on the phone
- D. Contact the software developer

Answer: C

From Quentin Docter - CompTIA A+ Complete Study Guide:

"If a mobile device is overheating and the battery drains rapidly after installing an app, this could point to malware. Begin by scanning the device with a mobile anti-malware application."

- C. Use the powercfg command in PowerShell

NEW QUESTION # 17

- A. EULA
- B. MND A
- C. AUP
- D. DRM

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

An Acceptable Use Policy (AUP) outlines the rules and guidelines for employees or users regarding the appropriate use of company systems, resources, and internet access. It defines permitted and prohibited activities, helping to mitigate security risks and establish clear behavioral expectations.

B: MND A (Mutual Non-Disclosure Agreement) deals with confidentiality, not usage guidelines.

C: DRM (Digital Rights Management) controls access to copyrighted content.

D: EULA (End User License Agreement) pertains to software licensing, not internal policies.

NEW QUESTION # 18

The screen of a previously working computer repeatedly displays an OS Not Found error message when the computer is started. Only a USB drive, a keyboard, and a mouse are plugged into the computer. Which of the following should a technician do first?

- A. Partition the disk using the GPT format
- B. Switch from UEFI to BIOS
- C. Check boot options
- D. Run data recovery tools on the disk

Answer: C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

An "OS Not Found" error typically indicates that the computer is attempting to boot from a drive that doesn't contain a valid operating system or bootable partition. The presence of a USB drive might be confusing the boot order. Therefore, the first step a technician should take is to verify and adjust the boot sequence in the system's firmware (BIOS or UEFI). It's possible that the USB drive is being prioritized over the internal hard drive, which may cause the system to miss the OS entirely.

A: Running data recovery tools is premature before confirming boot order.

B: Repartitioning the disk would destroy existing data-this should not be done until confirmed the OS is actually missing.

D: Switching between UEFI and BIOS (legacy mode) might help in rare cases, but it is not the first step in standard OS boot issue troubleshooting.

Reference:

CompTIA A+ 220-1102 Objective 1.7: Troubleshoot common operating system problems.

Study Guide Section: Boot process and boot order configuration.
