NEW QUESTION # 255

Tom works as a network administrator in a multinational organization having branches across North America and Europe. He wants to implement a storage technology that can provide centralized data storage and free data backup on the server. In addition, the selected technology will aid him in performing data backup and recovery more efficiently. Which of the following storage technologies best suits Tom's requirements?

- A. NAS
- B. DAS
- C. PAS
- D. RAID

Answer: A

Explanation:

Network Attached Storage (NAS) is a centralized storage solution connected to a network, allowing multiple users and devices to access and back up data efficiently. It's ideal for Tom's needs across multiple branches, offering centralized storage and simplified backup/recovery processes.

* Option A (DAS): Direct Attached Storage is local to a single server, not centralized across a network.

* Option C (PAS): This appears to be a typo; no such standard technology exists (possibly meant SAN or similar).

* Option D (RAID): Redundant Array of Independent Disks enhances reliability but isn't a centralized network solution.

* EDRP v3 discusses NAS as a scalable, centralized storage option for backup and recovery in distributed environments (Module: Storage Technologies).

NEW QUESTION # 257

Jill wanted to start a food truck with her savings from her previous job. Before she did so, she wanted to make sure that it would prove to be a feasible investment. Which analysis was Jill advised to conduct?

- A. Business Impact Analysis
- B. Risk Analysis
- C. Cost Analysis
- D. Cost Benefit Analysis

Answer: D

Explanation:

Cost Benefit Analysis (CBA) compares the costs of an investment (e.g., food truck) with its expected financial benefits to determine profitability, matching Jill's goal.

* Option A (Risk Analysis): Focuses on risks, not profitability.

* Option C (Cost Analysis): Examines costs only, not benefits.
