Pegasystems Certified Pega Lead System Architecture (LSA) Exam 23 Sample Questions (Q33-Q38):

NEW QUESTION # 33

What is the significance of Center-out business architecture in designing Pega enterprise applications?

- A. It promotes a mobile-first approach to application design.
- B. It emphasizes creating a centralized business logic layer for better scalability and performance.
- C. It focuses on building applications around the user interface for a seamless user experience.
- D. It prioritizes the integration of various backend systems to streamline data flow.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 34

A Pega Platform application designed for customer onboarding in a bank involves multiple subprocesses and extensive data entry and retrieval. With over 15 screens to navigate, the Quality Assurance team faces challenges in thoroughly testing the application. Each bug fix requires the team to restart testing from the beginning, adding to the difficulty. What suggestion do you adopt as a Lead System Architect to assist the team?

- A. Encourage the team to write utilities to speed up the testing process.
- B. Advise the team to create Pega test suites to run the bulk test cases in one go and speed up the testing process.
- C. Suggest that the team begins recording with the screen recording feature of the browser, and then replay the recording when testing the application after performing bug fixes.
- D. Advise the team to begin recording the testing performed using the scenario testing feature, and then replay the recording when testing the application after performing bug fixes.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

Pega's testing framework, as outlined in Pega Academy's Testing Mission and the Pega Certified Lead System Architect Study Guide, provides tools like test suites and scenario testing to streamline QA processes, especially for complex applications with multiple screens. Automation is key to reducing repetitive manual testing.

* Option A (Incorrect): Browser screen recording is not a Pega testing feature and does not automate or streamline testing. It is manual and inefficient for regression testing, per the Test Automation module.

* Option B (Incorrect): Writing custom utilities for testing is time-consuming and outside the QA team's typical scope. Pega provides built-in testing tools that are more efficient, as noted in the Testing Framework guidelines.

* Option C (Correct): Creating Pega test suites allows the QA team to automate and run bulk test cases in one go, covering multiple screens and subprocesses. Test suites support regression testing, reducing the need to restart from scratch after bug fixes. This aligns with Pega's best practices, as documented in the Test Suite Configuration section of Pega Community.

* Option D (Incorrect): Scenario testing records user interactions for specific test cases, but it is not designed for bulk testing or replaying entire test cycles. Test suites are better suited for comprehensive automation, per the Scenario Testing module.

Pega Academy: Testing Mission (covers test suites and scenario testing).

Pega Community: Test Suite Configuration (details on automating bulk tests).

Pega Certified Lead System Architect Study Guide (v23): Section on Deployment and Testing (emphasizes test automation).
