Google Cloud Certified - Professional Cloud Database Engineer Sample Questions (Q14-Q19):

NEW QUESTION # 14
You are migrating your data center to Google Cloud. You plan to migrate your applications to Compute Engine and your Oracle databases to Bare Metal Solution for Oracle. You must ensure that the applications in different projects can communicate securely and efficiently with the Oracle databases. What should you do?

- A. Set up a Shared VPC, configure multiple service projects, and create firewall rules.
- B. Set up Serverless VPC Access.
- C. Set up Traffic Director.
- D. Set up Private Service Connect.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 15
You are developing a new application on a VM that is on your corporate network. The application will use Java Database Connectivity (JDBC) to connect to Cloud SQL for PostgreSQL. Your Cloud SQL instance is configured with IP address 192.168.3.48, and SSL is disabled. You want to ensure that your application can access your database instance without requiring configuration changes to your database. What should you do?

- A. Define a connection string using Cloud SQL Auth proxy configured with a service account to point to the internal (private) IP address of your Cloud SQL instance.
- B. Define a connection string using a database username and password to point to the internal (private) IP address of your Cloud SQL instance.
- C. Define a connection string using your Google username and password to point to the external (public) IP address of your Cloud SQL instance.
- D. Define a connection string using Cloud SQL Auth proxy configured with a service account to point to the external (public) IP address of your Cloud SQL instance.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 16
You are migrating an on-premises application to Google Cloud. The application requires a high availability (HA) PostgreSQL database to support business-critical functions. Your company's disaster recovery strategy requires a recovery time objective (RTO) and recovery point objective (RPO) within 30 minutes of failure.
You plan to use a Google Cloud managed service. What should you do to maximize uptime for your application?

- A. Migrate the PostgreSQL database to multi-regional Cloud Spanner so that a single region outage will not affect your application. Update the schema to support Cloud Spanner data types, and refactor the application.
- B. Deploy Cloud SQL for PostgreSQL in a regional configuration with HA enabled. Take periodic backups, and use this backup to restore to a new Cloud SQL for PostgreSQL instance in another region during a disaster recovery event.
- C. Deploy Cloud SQL for PostgreSQL in a regional configuration with HA enabled. Create a cross-region read replica, and promote the read replica as the primary node for disaster recovery.
- D. Deploy Cloud SQL for PostgreSQL in a regional configuration. Create a read replica in a different zone in the same region and a read replica in another region for disaster recovery.

Answer: C

Explanation:
The best answer is deploy an HA configuration and have a read replica you could promote to the primary in a different region

NEW QUESTION # 17
You have a large Cloud SQL for PostgreSQL instance. The database instance is not mission-critical, and you want to minimize operational costs. What should you do to lower the cost of backups in this environment?

- A. Change the storage tier of the automated backups from solid-state drive (SSD) to hard disk drive (HDD).
- B. Reduce the number of automated backups that are retained to two (2).
- C. Set the automated backups to occur every other day to lower the frequency of backups.
- D. Select a different region to store your backups.

Answer: B

Explanation:
By default, for each instance, Cloud SQL retains seven automated backups, in addition to on-demand backups. You can configure how many automated backups to retain (from 1 to 365). We charge a lower rate for backup storage than for other types of instances. https://cloud.google.com/sql/docs/mysql/backup-recovery

NEW QUESTION # 18
You are the DBA of an online tutoring application that runs on a Cloud SQL for PostgreSQL database. You are testing the implementation of the cross-regional failover configuration. The database in region R1 fails over successfully to region R2, and the database becomes available for the application to process data. During testing, certain scenarios of the application work as expected in region R2, but a few scenarios fail with database errors. The application-related database queries, when executed in isolation from Cloud SQL for PostgreSQL in region R2, work as expected. The application performs completely as expected when the database fails back to region R1. You need to identify the cause of the database errors in region R2. What should you do?

- A. Determine whether the failover of Cloud SQL for PostgreSQL from region R1 to region R2 is in progress or has completed successfully.
- B. Determine whether the versions of Cloud SQL for PostgreSQL in regions R1 and R2 are different.
- C. Determine whether the database patches of Cloud SQl for PostgreSQL in regions R1 and R2 are different.
- D. Determine whether Cloud SQL for PostgreSQL in region R2 is a near-real-time copy of region R1 but not an exact copy.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Verify that the replica has processed all the transactions it has received from the primary. This ensures that when promoted, the replica reflects all transactions that were received before the primary became unavailable.
