NEW QUESTION # 84

Your customer wants to use tamper-proof Snapshot copies on a SnapMirror destination volume only.

You successfully created a SnapMirror relationship using a SnapMirror policy that contains the following rules:

Rules:	SnapMirror Label	Keep	Preserve	Warn	Schedule	Prefix	Retention Period
sm_created		1	false	-	-	-	-
hourly		5	false	0	-	-	-
daily		5	false	0	-	-	5days

After initializing, you are able to delete a daily Snapshot copy.

Which command did you need to modify to enable the tamper-proof Snapshot copies as specified in the policy?

- A. volume modify -snapshot-locking-enabled
- B. vserver modify -snapshot-policy
- C. volume snaplock modify -privileged-delete
- D. volume snapshot modify -expiry-time

Answer: A

Explanation:

Although the SnapMirror policy includes rules for retaining Snapshot copies, the ability to make them tamper-proof (i.e., locked) depends on enabling snapshot locking on the destination volume. You must explicitly run:

volume modify -volume <vol_name> -snapshot-locking-enabled true

Without this setting, SnapMirror-created Snapshot copies can still be deleted manually. Enabling snapshot-locking ensures that retention rules (like the 5-day daily rule in your policy) are enforced and Snapshots are immutable.
