Scrum Professional Scrum Product Owner II Sample Questions (Q75-Q80):

NEW QUESTION # 75

A user satisfaction gap exists when there is a difference between:
(choose the best two answers)

- A. The user's desired outcome.
- B. The total market size.
- C. The market share of the product.
- D. The user's actual experience.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

A user satisfaction gap exists when there is a difference between what the user expects from a product or service and what the user actually experiences¹2. The user's desired outcome is the goal or benefit that the user wants to achieve by using the product or service³. The user's actual experience is the perception and evaluation of the product or service by the user⁴. If the user's actual experience does not meet or exceed the user's desired outcome, the user will be dissatisfied and may switch to a different product or service.
