Oracle CX Sales 2024 Implementation Professional Sample Questions (Q243-Q248):

NEW QUESTION # 243

Which of the following is an advantage of using Multi-Dimensional Profitability and Cost Management models for enterprises?

- A. It allows for creation of multi-level structures, making it easier to represent different perspectives and levels of detail
- B. It has strict data storage requirements, making it easier to manage data
- C. It has limited automation capabilities, making it difficult to efficiently manage models
- D. It has limited capacity, limiting the amount of data that can be analyzed

Answer: A

Explanation:

Option 1: This option is correct. Multi-Dimensional Profitability and Cost Management models offer a complex modeling environment with several dimensions, with models that can be created with several levels of detail. This makes it easier to represent several perspectives, while providing a structure that is tailored to the enterprise. Option 2: This option is incorrect. Multi-Dimensional Profitability and Cost Management models require complex data storage requirements, with the need for both relational and multidimensional storage. This increases the need for more storage space and more complex storage management processes. Option 3: This option is incorrect. Multi-Dimensional Profitability and Cost Management models have the ability to hold vast amounts of data and provide the capacity needed to perform comprehensive analyses. In fact, the models typically exceed what is required by most organizations. Option 4: This option is incorrect. Multi-Dimensional Profitability and Cost Management models are highly automated and can be used to manage complex models with tools specifically designed to meet the needs of the enterprises. These tools can be used to automate tasks, such as data aggregation, consolidation, and drill-down.

NEW QUESTION # 244

When importing data into Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service for use in running allocations, what are the supported file formats?

- A. TXT files only
- B. CSV files only
- C. Excel, CSV, and TXT files
- D. Excel files only

Answer: C

Explanation:

Option 1: The correct answer is Excel, CSV, and TXT files. Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service supports data imports in multiple formats including Excel, CSV, and TXT files. Option 2: This answer is incorrect. Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service supports data imports in multiple formats, not just Excel files. Option 3: This answer is incorrect. Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service supports data imports in multiple formats, not just CSV files. Option 4: This answer is incorrect. Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service supports data imports in multiple formats, not just TXT files.

NEW QUESTION # 245

Which of the following is true about running allocations in Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service?

- A. Allocations can only be run using the built-in allocation engine provided by the system.
- B. The Allocation Rule Editor can be used to create new allocation rules.
- C. Allocations cannot be run on data that has not been consolidated.
- D. Allocations can only be run on data that has been previously loaded into the system.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Option 1: This answer is incorrect because it is possible to create custom allocation engines in addition to using the built-in engine. Option 2: This answer is incorrect because allocations can be run on data that is entered directly into the system as well as data that has been loaded in from external sources. Option 3: This answer is correct because the Allocation Rule Editor is a key tool for creating and managing allocation rules in the system. Option 4: This answer is incorrect because it is possible to run allocations on data that has not been consolidated.

NEW QUESTION # 246

When creating a report in Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service, what is the purpose of the 'Allocation' function?

- A. To group similar cost centers together for reporting purposes.
- B. To distribute costs from one cost center to another based on specified rules.
- C. To calculate the total costs for each cost center.
- D. To consolidate the costs from multiple cost centers into a single value.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Option 1: Correct. The 'Allocation' function in Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service is used to distribute costs from one cost center to another based on specified rules. Option 2: Incorrect. The 'Allocation' function in Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service is not used to calculate the total costs for each cost center. It is used to distribute costs. Option 3: Incorrect. The 'Allocation' function in Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service is not used to group similar cost centers together for reporting purposes. It is used to distribute costs. Option 4: Incorrect. The 'Allocation' function in Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service is not used to consolidate the costs from multiple cost centers into a single value. It is used to distribute costs.

NEW QUESTION # 247

Which of the following steps is necessary when running an allocation in Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service?

- A. Ensure that the destination cube is properly mapped to the source cube
- B. Create a calculation script to run the allocation
- C. Define allocation rules and methods in the Rules Library
- D. Set the allocation method and options in the Job Definition

Answer: D

Explanation:

Option 1: Incorrect. While it is important to ensure that the destination cube is properly mapped to the source cube, this step alone is not sufficient to run an allocation. Other steps are required. Option 2: Incorrect. While it is important to define allocation rules and methods in the Rules Library, this step alone is not sufficient to run an allocation. Other steps are required. Option 3: Incorrect. While it is important to create a calculation script to run the allocation, this step alone is not sufficient. Other steps are required. Option 4: Correct. When running an allocation in Oracle Profitability and Cost Management Cloud Service, it is necessary to set the allocation method and options in the Job Definition. This includes specifying the source and destination cubes, the rules to be applied, and other relevant settings.
